Jury Orders Life Term for Caril Fugate

Lincoln, Neb. — A jury today convicted Caril Ann Fugate of first degree murder as accomplice to mass killer Charles Starkweather and ordered life imprisonment.

The 15-year-old youngster broke into sobs and buried her face against the shoulder of defense lawyer Merrill Reller.

Her sobbing could be heard throughout the courtroom, as could the weeping of relatives sitting among the spectators.

Plea Rejected
Caril was charged with aiding and abetting Starkweather in one of 11 killings attributed to him.

By its verdict, the jury of seven men and five women tabbed Caril a helpful companion to Starkweather on a killing spree that shocked the nation.

Rejected was Caril's plea she was forced into her role by fears for her own life and threats of harm to her family.

She was convicted of first degree on the second count, which is murder in the perpetration of a robbery.

Mel Ott Dies After Surgery

New Orleans — Mel Ott, one time National League baseball star, died at noon today after emergency surgery.

He was 49.
Hospital spokesmen attributed death of uremia, kidney damage, multiple fractures of both legs and lacerations.

His wife, Mildred, is in a Gulfport, Miss., hospital where she is expected to undergo surgery shortly.

Pope John Refuses 50-Man Police Guard

Vatican City — Pope John XXIII inspected the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo today and laughingly brushed off a plan to surround him with a 50-man guard.

"No need at all for that, lieutenant," the pope told a Vatican police officer. "Nobody would bother an old man like me."

The incident came as the pope drove up to a gate overlooking the palace gardens at Castel Gandolfo. He got out and walked a half mile through the gardens to a side door of the palace. A Vatican police officer called to 50 men to seal off and guard among those affected. The gardens while the pope was there. The pontiff would have none of it.

Belgian Utility Workers Strike

Brussels — Belgian industry ground slowly toward a standstill today because of a strike by gas and electricity workers.

Germans Sign Accord On Berlin Free Traffic

Map Details Air, Ground and Rail Routes in and out of divided West Berlin, where civilian fears of a communist squeeze were eased by an agreement allowing freedom to German civilian traffic. Still to be decided is the question of shipment of supplies to western allies' troops in the city.

Hagerty Says Occupation Will Continue

President Gets Latest Reports From Washington

Augusta, Ga. — President Eisenhower's headquarters today asserted the United States' "firm intentions" to maintain western occupation of Berlin in the face of Russia's move to drive out the western allies.

At the president's vacation retreat, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty stated the U. S. determination after Eisenhower had received latest reports from Washington.

Reports From Capital
"Our firm intentions in West Berlin remain unchanged," Hagerty told a news conference.

He was referring to the Berlin sector occupied by the U. S., Britain and France.

Russia, which also has occupation forces in Berlin, has moved to turn over the city to communist East Germany and to put air and land transportation routes under control of that red government.

Hagerty said Eisenhower received reports on the picture by telephone from Washington this morning from Christian A. Herter, acting secretary of state, and from

Favor UN Entry By Red Chinese

Cleveland — Two church groups made reports today favoring admission of red China to the United Nations and recognition of that nation by the United States.

These reports are to be used as sturdy materials and passed along to churches of 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations. They were submitted by sectional groups to the Fifth World Order Study conference, sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

The study conference itself, before adjourning tonight, will make only one statement, known as the "message to the churches." At the same time it will relay the study materials for local discussion.

It appeared the "message" would contain some reference to the admission of red China, which appeared to be the liveliest topic of the meeting.

Damaged Propeller Replaced on Liner

San Francisco — The S. S. President Wilson, with 500 passengers aboard, was in drydock today for replacement of a damaged propeller.

The liner, headed for the Orient, turned back just a mile outside the Golden Gate yesterday because of the propeller's vibration.

Russians Said to be Pulling Out

Bonn — Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov said tonight the Russians are going "to give Berlin back to the Germans" by Christmas.

Berlin — East Germany signed an agreement with West Germany today guaranteeing German civilian traffic free movement to and from Berlin. The assurance was appended to a new trade pact between the two rival regimes.

This assurance to the 2-200,000 Germans in isolated West Berlin came as signs multiplied that the Russians may soon end the 4-power occupation agreement and turn control of the western allies' supply lines over to communist East Germany.

Germans who work in the eastern half of the old German capital said families of Russian soldiers and some officers and men already are pulling out of East Berlin. The Soviet embassy denied this.

But the German informants said the exodus began in earnest after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—in a speech Nov. 10—announced Soviet occupation rights in Berlin would be turned over to the East German regime.

This presumably would mean the withdrawal from East Berlin of Maj. Gen. Nikolai F. Zakharov, Soviet city commander, together with a battalion of troops guarding Russian installations. Soldiers withdrawing are from Zakharov's headquarters, not from the battalion.

The agreement on free access to Berlin for German civilian traffic has no effect on the explosive question of control of the western allies' supply lines to the divided city.

Rather, it appeared to be part of the communist propaganda thesis that the whole Berlin affair is purely a German family matter.

Qualified informants in Bonn said this was the strategy behind Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov's call yesterday on chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

They said Smirnov told Adenauer the Russians would break up the 4-power occupation of Berlin "as a means of decreasing world tensions."

The implication was that the continued presence of the occupation powers in Berlin was a thorn in the side of peace.

Want Red City
The Soviet maneuver was intended as a dramatic dem. with onstration that they consider their French, British and U. S. wartime allies, who have been occupying Berlin for 13 years, no longer have any rights in the city. These informants said.

The Bonn view was that the Russians would avoid a sudden move but would try to

Sudan to Revise Foreign Treaties

Spokesman Says Nation Will Not Risk Its Independence

Cairo — The new army regime in Sudan will revise all foreign agreements concluded before last Monday's coup d'etat, a Sudanese broadcast said today.

Interior Minister Gen. Ahmed Abdel Wahab was reported to have told a news conference the regime of study a Russian offer for aid. Gen. Ibrahim Abboud will and "if there are no conditions we will well accept it."

President Nasser's government has been working to win over Abboud's regime with favorable radio and press comment and with expressions of friendship.

Wanted to End—Chaos
There has been no confirmation of this from Khartoum. Instead, reports through diplomatic channels have said Abboud stepped in because the army feared Premier Abdullah Khalil was buckling under pressure from pro-Nasser politicians for closer relations with Cairo.

Today's broadcast said Wahab told last night's news conference the coup was staged to end internal chaos and "dangers from without." As to agreements with other countries, Wahab declared: "We prefer to starve rather than accept an agreement which endangers the independence and sovereignty of Sudan."

Wahab, former deputy commander in chief, is considered one of the men closest to Abboud.

Wahab made no reference to any specific agreement. He declared the government will study a Russian offer for aid. Gen. Ibrahim Abboud will and "if there are no conditions we will well accept it."

Nuclear Plane Seen for Reds

General Thinks Russia Has Chance Of Beating U. S.

Washington — Russia is given an even chance of beating the United States into the sky with an atomic powered airplane—possibly before the end of the year.

However, the director of the Pentagon's program for development of nuclear powered aircraft says this country is on the threshold of success in building an atomic plane.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Donald J. Keirn says if the Russians do win the race, the airplane they use might not be "too sophisticated"—that is, relatively crude.

Keirn expressed these views yesterday in talks to reporters and an ordinance group meeting.

He indicated that by using an atomic power plant in a conventional plane, the Russians might manage a nuclear flight before the end of the year or early next year.

But he made it clear the U. S. Air Force wants an airplane specifically designed for atomic power and capable of virtually unlimited range at supersonic speed.

The goal, Keirn said, is a manned aircraft which can "carry a large payload and remain on nomadic patrol for extended periods of time in various areas of the world."

In addition to being able to launch missiles, such a plane would be capable of low-level, high-speed flights into enemy territory.

Government Dam Threatened as Flames Destroy 3 Gasoline Barges

Golden, Ill. — A terrific explosion and spectacular fire swept three loaded gasoline barges on the Ohio river yesterday, causing possibly one death and creating a night of suspense at a government dam.

For seven hours the flaming barges, lighting up the sky, drifted threateningly downstream toward Dam 51.

Barge Over Dam
A last minute shift in the wind saved the dam. Lockmaster John Cummings said. He had feared the floating infernos would ram the structure.

One barge, with its fire out, floated over the dam after its wickets were lowered. The second rammed against a concrete abutment on the Kentucky side and began to burn and followed them. Not until about seven hours and 15 miles later was anyone sure the barges were no longer a danger.

The casualties: George Low, 67, was missing. Three others in pilot, and two deckhands—the crew were treated for mild James Menge and an unidentified man—were given first-aid ashore and returned to the towboat for the grim downriver journey.

Curious spectators lined the shore for miles. They were shunted away from the burning crewmen when they tried to question them.

Towns Warned
Lockmaster Cummings, who said he had difficulty getting much information from the towboat, prepared for the worst at the dam. Four families there were evacuated. Warnings went out to river towns in the area.

This town of 1,100 was protected by a levee from the heat of the flames.

The coast guard cutter Summac, 60 miles away when the fire began, raced to the scene. The ordeal was over when the cutter reached the area.

Maier Expects to Win GOP Help in Wisconsin Senate

Milwaukee — Democratic Senate Floor Leader Henry Maier says that despite the fact that Republicans still will have a majority in the upper house of the 1959 legislature, "I am quite hopeful that there will always be three or four progressive minded Republican senators to give us votes we'll need."

Maier said here Thursday night that reform in state budget techniques was the kind of measure he particularly had in mind.

"We must bring state budgeting into the clear view of the citizenry," Sen. Maier said. "A mere statement of dollar needs does not meet the requirement of understandable budgeting. This has been the unfortunate practice of the past, it needs reform in the future. It's the kind of reform that Republican senators who place public interest above party justification of past practices will help us make."

Offer to Construct Nuclear Power Plant

Pioneer Unit Would be Built By Private Electric Firms At Cost of $24.5 Million

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington — The Philadelphia Electric Co. and more than 50 other private utilities today offered to build a $24.5 million nuclear power plant near Philadelphia. The aim is to provide a shortcut to cheaper electric power. The project, a pioneer gas-cooled type of reactor, was submitted to the Atomic Energy commission just before expiration of a 60-day deadline fixed by congress for private industry to act. If no proposal had been received today, AEC was under congressional orders to build and operate a gas-cooled power plant at public expense. As it is, the private sponsors expect the government to add $14 million to what they are putting up, bringing the overall cost of the project to $39 million.

Completion Date
The proposed prototype plant would be completed in 1962 or early 1963, AEC was told. It would be owned by Philadelphia Electric and would feed 30,000 kilowatts of power into the firm's system initially. Later it would provide 40,000 kilowatts.

Though the Philadelphia company was the official sponsor, it was joined in the project by a newly organized, nonprofit group of utility companies from coast to coast. This group calls itself the High Temperature Reactor Development Associates Inc., a Delaware corporation. The plant itself, on a site soon to be announced, would cost an estimated $24.5 million. But the project is contingent on AEC's agreeing to put up an additional $14 million for further research and development.

The government offered such help on Sept. 22 when, under an act of congress designed to get development started on new and promising reactor types, the AEC invited proposals from industry for a gas-cooled reactor.

Private Enterprise
If AEC accepts today's proposal, the industry will have headed off what it considers a major threat — a further incursion by the federal government into public power.

The AEC research and development contract would go to the general atomic division of General Dynamics Corp., which conceived the new design and put two years of experimental work into it at its own expense.

The Bechtel Corp., San Francisco, would be the engineer - builder, and Westinghouse Electric Corp. would provide the electric generating equipment.

Knowledge gained from this prototype, the sponsors predicted, should make it possible to progress directly to construction of a huge 325,000-kilowatt plant. A reactor of this size theoretically would reach top efficiency and produce electricity at a cost matching present costs in many parts of the country.

This is the reason for the sponsors' claim that the project is "a short cut to the goal of economic nuclear power."

Air Force Officer Hits Red Charges

Soviet Try to Inject Politics Into Technical Conference

Geneva — Gen. Otto P. Weyland, commander of the U. S. tactical air command, fired today on accusations about American military policy and practices made by the Soviet delegation in the talks on surprise attack problems.

The Russians — attempting to inject political issues into the 10-nation technical conference — have described American overseas bases as a threat to peace. They also have proposed a treaty which would prevent nuclear-armed U. S. air force planes from making constant readiness flights.

A western source did not disclose the exact nature of Weyland's remarks beyond the fact that the general made a statement "setting the conference record straight."

The five western nations — the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada — have opened since the conference began Nov. 10 to get the talk down to detailed technical studies of ways of lessening the danger of surprise attacks.

This the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania have resisted. They have talked only about political matters — issues the western experts say they are not empowered to discuss.

East and West are deadlocked over an order of business for the conference. One western source put it this way: "We obviously still are not playing on the same ball field."

Red Expert Sees Moon Flight Soon

Moscow — A Soviet moon - mapping expert, N. P. Barabashov of Kharkov observatory, said today in Izvestia that "it must be assumed the time is not far off when the world learns about the first moon flight."

His statement was interpreted here as a broad hint that Russia may shoot for the moon soon. He wrote: "It is necessary now to prepare a detailed atlas of the moon's surface for the first space travelers, including the minutest details of height of mountains, depth of abysses, and degree of inclination of crater walls, permitting good orientation for long trips on the surface of the moon without fear of getting lost among the enormous number of often very similar mountains."

Barabashov, who heads a commission studying climates of other planets, reported earlier this year that Soviet scientists were building a powerful new telescope to track space ships.

Seeks Relief

Prisoner Says He's Captive Audience for Fanatic Sermons

Oroville, Calif. — "Religion can be torture when one doesn't want to listen," says a Butte county jail prisoner who asserts he is a captive audience for Tuesday night sermons.

"I am submitted to the intolerable and fanatical rantings and ravings of a fanatical religious group," Donald Smith, 25, of Oakland protested in petitions for relief sent to the U. S. attorney general and the California attorney general.

Smith, unable to raise $1,000 bail, has been in jail four months awaiting trial on bad check charges.

Jailer Replies
Jailer Glen Attribackle said that for 20 years a half dozen "well-meaning and religious citizens" of Oroville have been preaching and singing hymns in the jail on Tuesday nights.

Smith declared that he has been "locked into a submissive position" for the non-sectarian services although he has not yet been found guilty of anything "and must be presumed innocent and enjoy all the rights of free men in the United States."

He said, "I'm not against religion," and added that one jail he had been in — at Salinas, Calif. — "was so horrible it was actually a pleasure to listen to somebody from the outside — no matter what he preached." He did not say how he had happened to be in the Salinas jail.

West Berlin Mayor Ready to Battle Reds

Willy Brandt Hard-Headed Socialist, Was Refugee From Gestapo Under Hitler

BY SEYMOUR TOPPING

Berlin — Willy Brandt is ready to take on whatever the communists throw at Berlin.

"We've got strong nerves and we are ready for the difficulties ahead," says the handsome 44-year-old mayor.

Brandt is a fighting socialist politician in the tradition of the late Ernst Thälmer, mayor or who saw Berlin through the Russian blockade of 1948-49.

Some fellow Social Democrats think Brandt may one day be chancellor if West Germany swings left.

Likes Politics
His lust for the political rough-and-tumble may stem from his background — voluntary exile during the Hitler years, escape from the Gestapo, marriage to a Norwegian beauty and a meteoric post-war political rise.

Controversy centers around his activities in World War II. Some political foes accuse him of treason, claiming that he fought with the Norwegian army while a political refugee.

Brandt denies the charge. He says he put on the Norwegian uniform to escape the Gestapo hunt for him after Norway fell in 1940. He succeeded in eluding the Nazis and wound up the war as a Norwegian citizen in Sweden working as a journalist. After Germany surrendered, Brandt returned to Berlin as press attache in Norway's military mission.

He readopted German citizenship in 1947. He won a seat in West Germany's parliament and in 1950 became a West Berlin city legislator.

Asks Business To Increase Living Standard

Church Unit Studies U. S. Firms' View of Overseas Operations

Cleveland — A church study group recommended today that American business enterprises operating overseas carry the human and social gains of the western world into less developed areas.

The statement came from a section studying "overseas areas of rapid social change."

The section's report was presented to the world order study conference conducted this week by the National Council of Churches.

Low Wages
The report said some American enterprises overseas still retain low wages, racial restrictions and other practices. "We urge that American enterprises operating abroad make greater efforts to carry over into less developed areas the human and social gains which are the fruits of a century and a half of business and labor leadership in the western world, of social awakening, of education and of legislation," said the report.

"Many business operations overseas in which American capital and/or management is involved now make provisions for these costs: But others still participate in socially destructive practices such as racial restrictions based on race, forms of migratory labor which preclude normal family life, and subnormal remuneration."

Minimum Standards
"The establishment of minimum standards in this field," the report said, "should be the concern both of ownership, management and responsible trade - unionism. Many American Christians

Kohler Plans Wage Boost

Increase Effective Monday for Hourly, Salaried Employees

Kohler, Wis. — A general 5 per cent wage increase at the Kohler Co. was announced Thursday by the plumbingware firm.

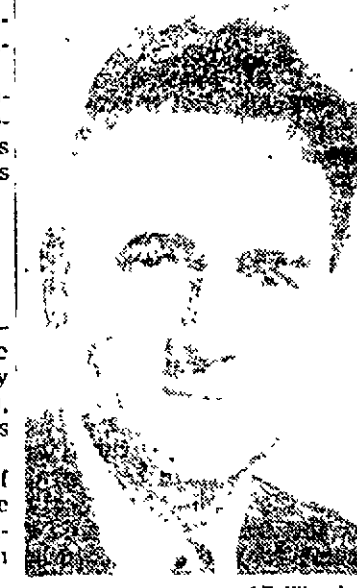

The firm said the increase, effective Nov. 24, would apply to hourly paid, incentive paid, and salaried employees in non-executive classifications in the plant and office.

The firm said the wage boost was being made "in accordance with its long established policy of keeping its wages in line with general wage levels and with increases in the most of living."

Labor Dispute
The plumbingware factory, which employs about 3,000, is the center of a labor dispute which began April 5, 1954 when the United Auto Workers went on strike.

The firm resumed production several weeks later, using new employees and non-striking workers.

The National Labor Relations board Thursday reopened the case of the union's unfair labor practice charges against the firm.

Builder of First Pay Telephone Dies at 89

Bloomfield, Conn. — George Long, who built the world's first workable pay telephone before the age of 20, died Thursday night in his home at 89.

Called by many the dean of living American inventors, he built the first internal combustion engine in the western hemisphere.

Long was assigned the task of building a pay telephone when he was 16 and an apprentice patternmaker at the Pratt and Whitney company, a West Hartford tool company. He turned it out.

He owned nearly 200 patents for pay telephone equipment.

Nationalist Official Says Chinese People Fight Commune System

Claims 5,000 Farmers Staged Uprising Early in October

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Taipei — Widespread on-and-off duel over the nationalistic-held offshore islands. The nationalists utilized the research and psychological warfare section of Kuomintang, Chiang Kai-shek's ruling party, said the system was a delayed action bomb which would one day blow up the communist regime.

Chen Chien-Chung, head of the research and psychological warfare section of Kuomintang, Chiang Kai-shek's ruling party, said the system was a delayed action bomb which would one day blow up the communist regime.

Chen reported extensive discontent over the commune system, under which people on the mainland are organized into work production units, eat in common mess halls, sleep in dormitories and are generally denied normal family life.

He said the discontent was beginning to seep into the armed forces.

Chen claimed 5,000 farmers, supported by some militiamen, staged an uprising early in October in Kianghua county, Hunan province. He said the defiance was ruthlessly suppressed.

He also claimed that farmers enraged by the system wrecked mechanical and other equipment at a large collective farm in the Chungshan district of Kwangtung province on Oct. 10, nationalist China's Independence day. The district is the birthplace of Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Republic of China.

He claimed more than 19,400 farmers in Lungyu county of Chekiang province refused to join the commune system but did not say what the communists did about it.

90.4 Per Cent
Chen said 90.4 per cent of China's farm population — which he estimated as totaling 510 million persons — had already been organized under the commune system.

From the mainland, meanwhile, communist-artillery resumed firing fitfully at the Quemoy islands. It was another odd-numbered day in the

Charles Collins to Get His Citation

Detroit — Charles Collins will face Pennsylvania parole authorities with a citation from Detroit police.

Collins, 38, helped police capture two bandits last summer. When the award was to be presented, Collins was in jail awaiting trial on larceny charges. He was sentenced to 30 days and failed to get the honor.

Pennsylvania police requested Collins' return for parole violation on his release Wednesday. Collins, waiving extradition, asked for his citation.

Commissioner Herbert W. Hart, appraised of the case, said: "Collins deserves the citation for what he did. He'll get it now. I am not judging what he wants to use it for."

$6,414,973 Marked for 1959 Spending in New City Budget

Taxes Up 21.12, Other Incomes
20 Per Cent for Municipal Needs

A breakdown of the strictly city side of the 1959 Appleton budget shows anticipated spending by the council and more or less independent boards amounting to $6,414,973.

Offsetting this, besides $3,894,521 of the $4,683,842 in taxes to be collected, are $2,520,452 in other incomes.

The overall picture compares to this year's spending of $5,315,547, from $3,215,236 in taxes and $2,100,311 in other incomes.

Spending is up $1,099,426, or 20.68 per cent.

Taxes are up $679,285, or 21.12 per cent.

Other incomes are up $420,141, or 20 per cent.

The August increase in real estate and personal property assessments, amounting to $5,437,275, was the factor in holding the rate from spiraling higher. It provided a $187,749 cushion.

$34.53 For City

There is no difference of rates for city purposes between Appleton - Outagamie county and Appleton-Calumet county property owners.

Both the $41.50 Appleton-Outagamie rate and the $43.40 Appleton-Calumet rate show $34.53 of total for strictly city spending after other incomes are applied.

Appleton - Outagamie land-owners pay 98.203 per cent of the $3,894,521 required and Appleton-Calumet property owners, 1.79694 per cent.

Appleton-Outagamie's share is $3,824,538.51; Appleton-Calumet's $69,983.20.

The Calumet dollar share is more this year than last, partly because of an increase of about .42 in the percentage of Calumet county taxes its property owners must pay.

County Charges Differ

County charges are made up of levies to finance county board operations, county schools and certain minor state activities. State charges are forwarded by the counties to Madison.

Outagamie county charges, a total of $771,354.09, are equal to $6.97 of the $41.50 tax rate. Calumet county charges, a total of $17,967.23, are equal to $8.87 of the $43.40 rate.

Together the county charges aggregate $789,321, a decrease of $23,450, due chiefly to a $29,900.94 cut-in demand by the Outagamie county board.

Breakdown Given

Outagamie county charges will be split this way: County board operations, $660,791.30; county schools, $62,903.93, and the state, $47,658.86. This compares to $690,692.24 for the board this year, $64,007.93 for county schools and $43,448.63 for the state.

Calumet county charges, all increased slightly on account of a hike in the section's equalized share of costs, will be split this way: County board, $16,669.93; county schools, $579.12 and state, $718.18. This compares to $13,550 for the board this year, $515.04 for county schools and $566.45 for the state.

Roughly, the $5,437,275 assessment increase provided about $37,000 cushion against county charges.

The overall picture shows $3,894,521 of the $4,683,842 in taxes next year going for strictly city spending and $789,321 to the two counties and the state. This year's levy of $4,028,007 was split $3,215,236 for the city and $812,771 for the counties.

Misleading

The $6,414,973 spending figure for 1959 is somewhat misleading, in that the school, vocational school, park and library budgets are net budgets after application of state aids, shared taxes and fees.

With this in mind, here are 10 of the largest individual budgets, the amounts in the overall city budgets and the amount of increase or decrease over this year's budgets:

Schools, $2,207,018, up $225,385.

Bonded debt and interest, $751,344, up $229,182.75.

Police department, $321,571, up $32,447.

Fire department, $321,437, down $6,730, but with a $26,000 outlay for an aerial truck out of the picture for next year.

Vocational school, $153,374, up $5,900.

Parks, $114,753, down $42,635.

Sanitation department, $100,400, down $22,600.

Paving, $125,000, up $50,000.

Contingent Fund, $56,579, up 43, up from about $1,000 left in this year's account.

Salary adjustments, $50,000, same as this year.

Over-Supply of Peas Worries State Canners

Surplus May Hit 10 Million Cases By Next June 1

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The over-supply of canned peas is reaching "alarming proportions," the Wisconsin Canners association has declared here in asking for the assistance of governmental agencies in "special sales promotion for the food product."

The association said according to present marketing trends, the surplus of canned peas may reach 10,000,000 cases by next June 1.

"The situation is of vital concern not only to pea canners, but also to the suppliers of the Wisconsin canning industry because canned peas represent the largest volume of any Wisconsin canned vegetable," said an association resolution.

Canners are trying to show the consumer that peas represent one of the best bargains in the food market today.

Buy More

The association has produced statistical comparisons illustrating that 20 years ago the average industrial worker could buy 3.5 cans of peas with the wage earned by an hour of labor, while today he can buy 10 cans with the same hourly wage.

Using the consumer price index computed by the U. S. Department of Labor, the association showed the September price index for all goods to be 243, using a 1935-39 base figure.

At the same time the price index for canned peas was only 116, and for canned corn 162.

"Expressed as percentages, these figures mean that canned peas today are selling today for only 16.8 per cent more than they were 20 years ago while the average food price has increased 143 per cent," explained Marvin P. Verhulst, executive secretary of the association.

Officer Will Get 'Cool' Farewell

Wellington, New Zealand—Antarctica's first full scale military parade will be held at McMurdo sound next week.

It will be a farewell parade for George Dufek, retiring commander of "operation deep freeze." Plans were announced today by Cmdr. W. A. Lawiston, officer in charge of the American base at McMurdo.

Dufek, now on his last visit to Little America, will return to McMurdo on Monday. He is due to fly out to Christchurch, New Zealand, a few days later.

A special Antarctic dinner will be held before the admiral's flag is lowered. Then a dog sled will take him to the airstrip.

A red carpet of fluorescent rayon—used for antarctic survival tents—will be rolled out to the plane's doorway. A band is being recruited from the McMurdo base staff and from the icebreaker Glacier.

Dufek's future plans are indefinite. He may join the transport ship Arneb or Wyandot in New Zealand before returning to the United States.

The change of command when Rear Adm. David Tyres succeeds Dufek as deep freeze chief probably will take place in the states in March.

Can't Decide on Missile Cone

Washington — The army is showing off and hiding a nose cone at the same time.

Secretary of the Army Brucker presented the Jupiter C missile nose cone to the Smithsonian institution yesterday. The cone is the first known object to have returned to earth after a trip in space.

Museum officials immediately put it on exhibition. Later they found out that a plastic coating covered the cone, which was classified. They had not been told about the cover earlier.

"I guarantee it's under there," Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, deputy chief of army ordnance, said later.

The Smithsonian decided to change the label, explaining to visitors they could see the shape of the cone but not the cone itself.

Northern Democrats Will Be After More State Aid

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The new Democratic state administration taking office in January may have its troubles meeting the hopes and demands of strongly increased Democratic delegations from the far northern regions of Wisconsin.

While Gov. - elect Gaylord Nelson has hinted in his post-election statements that he wants to hold the line on state spending and taxation, there is little likelihood that he can make such an approach palatable to his partisan colleagues from the northland.

Northern Wisconsin legislators regard the treasury as something to be tapped for the benefit of their constituents, a source of state aids and subsidies to prop up a faltering local tax base and chronically distressed local government treasuries.

Few Pay More
Only a comparatively few of the larger and industrialized counties of the state pay into the state treasury more than they are returned in shared taxes and subsidies. Others have a financial balance in their favor, and the largest balance is in favor of the counties of the extreme northern part of the state.

Democrats who will rule the early Republican administration new administration are keenly aware that their new prosperity derives from a voting trend that was first discernible in the rural counties of the north in the early years of this decade.

The Democratic upset in the congressional election in the ninth district in 1953, for example, gave the party a surge forward that carried it into stronger position in each succeeding election.

The progress of the party is now illustrated by the fact that there are only three Republican assemblymen surviving in the 10th congressional district, and none in the ninth.

Local Issues
Most of the successful Democratic legislative candidates campaigned for their offices on local economic and fiscal issues — including school and highway aids which are vital to the northern Wisconsin municipal budgets. They are unlikely to be dissuaded by talk of holding the line by the new governor.

The appetite of northern legislators for state treasury benefits is a bipartisan one. The LaFollette administration of the 1930's were troubled with it, as were the early Republican administration after the GOP unhorsed the LaFollette regime in 1930. In the first Republican legislative session after the GOP victory of 1938, northern legislators banded together in a separate caucus, to fortify their demands upon the new legislative Republican majority.

Basic Pattern
The basic pattern of school and highway fund distribution that survives today was written under the impetus of those northerners, who called themselves "woodchoppers," nearly 20 years ago.

The Democrats are also pledged by their platform and their specific candidate pledges to work for a better program of economic development in the north which has a marginal agriculture and relatively less manufacturing than most other regions.

Gov.-elect Nelson like others spoke frequently about the need for state leadership in economic development of the forest counties of upper Wisconsin, but little of specific nature was evolved during the campaign debates.

American Motors Earnings Exceed Early Estimates

Boston — American Motors Corp. earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 will be in excess of any estimate he has seen, President George Romney told a news conference Thursday.

Asked about resumption of dividends, he said, "I am sure there will be consideration of a dividend on the basis of 1958 earnings and that ought to be determined by the end of this month." The possibility, he said, is stronger than a week ago, he said.

Romney said that for the year to date, American Motors' Rambler car sales have risen from last year's 2 per cent of total industry sales to 4 1/2 per cent.

Although the present production rate is moving up to 1,280 units per day, he said current orders are away beyond production schedules through the early part of next year.

Sugar-Coated Pills Called Peril to Tots

Toronto — Sugar coating of pills has gone too far, says the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association.

An article by Dr. Henri J. Breault singles out sugared pills of aspirin. He says the medical society recorded 121 cases of headache tablet poisoning in Windsor, Ontario, during a 240-day period. One of the victims died.

The compound is usually harmless if given in the recommended dose, he says. But if a child finds the bottle of pleasant-tasting tablets he may not stop with one or two. There is no known antidote and the margin of safety in infants and small children is small.

A Journal editorial says poisoning accounts for 43 per cent of all accidental deaths among children 2 and 3.

Children from 1 to 2 usually get into household bleaching or cleaning powders stored at floor-level. Those 2 and 3 are more often poisoned by pills and drugs from window sills, drawers and cupboards.

"The flavoring or coating of bitter and distasteful medicines has apparently defeated its purpose, by making drugs too attractive and similar to candies," says the Journal.

"Perhaps there is something to say for the old method of covering such drugs with a teaspoonful of jam at the time of use instead of relying on the elaborate measures to which manufacturers resort."

cent of total industry sales to 4 1/2 per cent.

Although the present production rate is moving up to 1,280 units per day, he said current orders are away beyond production schedules through the early part of next year.

Wiley Asks Bipartisanship In New Senate

Makes His First Direct Comment On GOP Defeats

Post-Crescent News Service

Washington — Viewing the outlook for the new congress in which he and his Republican colleagues will be outnumbered by Democrats in the senate almost 2-1, Sen. Alexander Wiley today called for bi-partisanship and cooperation.

In the first direct comment on the Republican election defeats in his widely circulated weekly newsletter, the Wisconsin senior senator and veteran Republican wrote:

Changes Complexion
"As we face the future, the challenges demand bi-partisanship, cooperation and a willingness to work together for the good of the country on policies of national interest."

Wiley also remarked that the elections changed the complexion of the U. S. senate, and proudly recalled his own senior status on the Republican minority side of the upper house of the congress.

"As senior senator from Wisconsin, I rank second in Republican seniority in the U. S. senate. In the 83rd congress, I served as ranking minority member of the important foreign relations and judiciary committees," he wrote.

(Elected in 1938, Wiley is out-ranked in the Republican senate minority only by Sen. H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.)

Former Wife of Charles Chaplin, Jr., Gets $150 a Month

Los Angeles — Charles Chaplin, Jr., must pay $150 monthly support to his estranged wife pending the trial of their divorce suit.

Susan Magness Chaplin, 22, is expecting a child in June. They married last August.

The Chaplins told superior court Wednesday there was no hope for a reconciliation. "We'd just break up all over again," said the 33-year-old son of the comedian.

Chaplin, an actor, said he gets $500 a month from a $150,000 trust fund established by his father.

GOP'Togetherness' Meeting Turns Into Catlin-Bubolz Battle

ed at unifying the party for 1960. Catlin wanted, he declared in a voice shaking with emotion, to answer the advertisement placed in the Post-Crescent the Saturday before the Nov. 4 election by Bubolz. Catlin's first step was to describe Bubolz as "intentionally dishonest or legislatively stupid."

Bubolz leaped to his feet for a point of order. "Stick to the facts — you cannot make a personal attack on my character in a Republican meeting, against a fellow Republican, any more than you can attack a fellow assemblyman," Bubolz declared.

No Attack
Chairman Van Susteren replied it was not a personal attack, only part of the parliamentary procedure, with language "perhaps not delicate."

Catlin continued, citing his 26 years of service to the Republican party in Outagamie county and his 14 years in the legislature.

"As a representative, I sponsored or supported every Republican bill, even when a controversy occurred — I led the fight — there was not one Republican party issue in the advertisement Gordon Bubolz published. He mixed up my activities as a legislator with some of my actions as a lobbyist, when I was not in the legislature," Catlin declared.

"The issues dealt with in the ad concerned the people, if not the party," Bubolz replied later.

I Acted'

"Every time the Outagamie county party or government requested action, I acted," Catlin said. For example,

"Gordon Bubolz in 1949 introduced a bill to allow Outagamie county to build an elderly persons' home in another county (Waupaca), and he said in his ad that I did not help in any way. That bill was introduced in the senate by Bubolz because the county board asked him to do so — I did every thing necessary to pass the bill in the assembly — yet he says I didn't do anything," Catlin declared.

Bubolz replied, "Catlin always took credit for all the bills in the state legislature — I don't mind not getting any mention year after year, then this year I thought that he should at least mention that his fellow senator might have had something to do with some legislation."

Catlin said he attended 19 meetings on the corporation study and seven on the criminal code revision. "But Bubolz says I had nothing to do with either."

Bubolz Claim

Bubolz declared he was the originator of the judicial committee for criminal law revision (which Catlin admitted) and that Catlin couldn't have served on the committee because he was defeated in 1950.

Catlin asked Bubolz if he knew that Catlin served on the legislature committees until 1951 as a part of his elected term.

Bubolz agreed, then said Catlin served as a public representative.

On a bill for establishment of a corporation counsel in Outagamie county Catlin said the request to introduce the bill came from the county board too late to introduce in the assembly. "It had to be referred to the judiciary committee, and that body introduced it at my request. I made every legislative motion necessary to pass the bill, and Bubolz knows it."

Catlin then charged Bubolz with taking many of the

Here are Two Pictures of the main protagonists of Thursday night's Republican meeting before 42 people. Former Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Jr., points a finger as he makes a point during his speech. Former State Senator Gordon A. Bubolz, right, holds one of the many volumes used by the pair to support their contentions that the other was wrong. Between the two is Mrs. John C. Stevens, GOP reorganization committee chairman. Bubolz backed winning First District assembly candidate Kenneth Priebe, as an independent against Republican Candidate Catlin.

phrases in his advertisement from the Capitol Times (a Madison newspaper often associated with the Democratic party).

"You got those terms from the Capitol Times and don't lie about it," Catlin shouted. "I object to this personal attack — if you don't rule against this, Mr. chairman..." Bubolz shouted.

Van Susteren asked Catlin not to use the term 'lying.'

Catlin said he would call the Bubolz statements "political misrepresentation."

Catlin next charged that Bubolz said Catlin sponsored a "gag rule" in the assembly.

"That idea came from the Republican caucus and they ordered me to work for the measure."

"If it was a 'gag rule' 100 assemblymen voted for it — 76 Republicans and 24 Democrats. The senators killed the measure because they went back on their word given at the Republican caucus. The assembly has passed the same resolution every year since it was first introduced and it was put in simply because state office employees were appearing for bills without knowledge of department heads," Catlin declared.

Catlin charged that "the Bubolz ad on this subject was not true — the measure simply prevents appointed officials from appearing before a committee unless invited. It does not concern elected officials."

Bubolz countered that the state superintendent of public instruction — an elected official — couldn't appear before a committee.

Shouting Discussion
Catlin shouted that Bubolz couldn't name one state official who had been denied an appearance before a committee.

Bubolz shouted back that the officials were afraid to get into trouble with the legislature, so didn't appear.

"Strictly speaking, a lobbyist can come in, but an official representing the people cannot," Bubolz declared.

Catlin charged Bubolz said in his advertisement that Catlin sponsored a bill to allow 18-year-olds to work in liquor stores and beer depots.

"The law he's referring to was simply to allow persons between 18 and 21 to work in grocery stores which sell beer. This is in line with state policy. Bubolz just didn't read the bill, and omitted the word 'grocery,' that's all," Catlin said.

Catlin went on to accuse Bubolz of a "deliberate misstatement about a 2 a.m. closing law. Actually, there has never been a 2 a.m. closing law for the entire state before the legislature. There was one for the counties adjacent to Milwaukee — which has a 2 a.m. closing — and I voted against it. The other was a measure for the resort areas of northern Wisconsin during the summer resort season."

Never in Senate

"Bubolz says that latter bill was killed in the senate — well, for his information, it never got to the senate. And when I was out of the assembly, that bill was passed by the senate and the assembly and was killed by the governor's veto," Catlin said.

"The liquor laws this man has backed are endless," Bubolz replied.

Catlin continued: "Bubolz charged that I worked for a 'moocher's bill' and that term came right from the Capitol Times, since there is no language similar in the assembly record. Since prohibition, distillers and brewers have bought advertisements in the tavern association's program — this bill was to cover that," Catlin said.

"That law," Bubolz answered, "would have opened the way for liquor interests to pour money into any district in any election."

Mud Guard Bill
On a bill aimed at mud guards for trucks, Catlin declared the only way "to adequately protect the public from trucks in bad weather is the contour mud guard, as determined in a University of Michigan study. That's what the bill does — use the Michigan study to define mud guards. The bill was dropped because there was a question of constitutionality pending in Illinois," Catlin said.

"That bill was so complicated it was beyond the human brain to comprehend," Bubolz answered.

Catlin said he'd talked to top Democrats recently in Madison. "They said to me, 'Mark, we're sorry you lost, but we're happy you won't be here this year.' Draw your own conclusions," Catlin said, his voice breaking.

On whether Catlin got permission to use persons' pictures and statements in his ads, Bubolz showed a letter from John Wyngaard (Post-Crescent Madison correspondent) indicating that he had not consented or known about the use of his name in a Catlin ad which quoted from one of his articles.

On whether he congratulated Priebe, Catlin said he tried but couldn't reach him. Bubolz said he'd claimed to but actually had not.

New Argument
Bubolz asked Catlin if he had conspired with Dick Zingsheim (Democratic candidate) to issue a "smear advertisement" against Bubolz. A new shouting match was precipitated.

Catlin said Zingsheim had asked him if he would furnish information to answer the Bubolz advertisement. Catlin said he would on certain topics.

Bubolz declared this was an example of two candidates conspiring against a third and against the public interest.

Stronger Party

"I came here tonight to urge that we work toward a stronger Republican party in 1960," Bubolz said, "and I did not want to get into this argument. I hope in the future that Mark Catlin will humble himself a little and work with us. His record is written — I didn't mention the state supreme court decision, that is over.

"We supported an independent in 1958, just as we did in 1950 (when Catlin ran as an independent) — but this time we were more successful."

"I know how you feel," Bubolz said, looking at Catlin, "and it's not easy. But we have something larger to consider — the party."

Insurance Battle

Bubolz in his ad, said Catlin, claimed that "he hadn't been to Madison in five years. Maybe he wasn't, but he had his paid, registered lobbyists and his employees (Home Mutual insurance) there, working every minute for defeating the mutual insurance tax bill."

"He tried and tried to beat that tax bill, and perhaps it was his business to do it. What is wrong is that now he

AP News Editor Dies

New Rochelle, N.Y. — Paul R. Mickelson, 59, general news editor of the Associated Press, died today in New Rochelle hospital.

He was stricken ill yesterday. The nature of his ailment was not known.

Last week Mickelson attended a meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors organization at French Lick, Ind. Returning to his desk in the New York general offices of the AP, he had worked through Wednesday.

Mickelson had spent his entire career as a newsman with the AP, which he joined in Chicago in March, 1922.

acts holier-than-thou—as if he had nothing to do with that bill and the fight against it," Catlin declared.

"I introduced my first bill to tax the mutual insurance companies in 1937, and I've done it every year I've been in the legislature since," Catlin said. He added that he thought mutual insurance companies should be taxed, "I always have and I always will."

Bubolz retorted that the Time Insurance company paid Catlin $5,499 for his work. "He says he went to Washington to represent them, but he was in Madison—figure it out," Bubolz called the insurance question an "odorous mess and enough has been said. However, I will not retract a single statement I've made."

Rebuttal Time

Van Susteren gave Bubolz and Catlin seven minutes each for rebuttal, during which Catlin challenged Bubolz to a debate anywhere, anytime on the bills mentioned in the Bubolz ad and offered a public apology if Bubolz could find one example of a Republican bill, except income tax increases, for which Catlin had not worked.

Neither challenge was accepted.

The party also decided to have a Lincoln day dinner (none was held this year) and will consider hiring a full time or parttime secretary to conduct party business.

Aldermen Turn Down Cut in Recreation

$2,000 Slash in Swim Pool Money Fails to Get Second

A $5,000 cut in the city recreation department's budget was turned down in committee of the whole budget discussion by a 12 to 8 vote.

The action was among several suggestions defeated or which did not come to a vote during a long session which lasted until after 2 a. m. Thursday.

Proponents of the cut said the commission should be instructed to apply the cut to its adult programs.

A suggestion to trim $2,000 from the Erb park swimming pool account failed for lack of a second. An opponent of the proposal said it would work unnecessary hardship on some families. Fees have not been changed since the pool opened in 1940, the advocate said.

Ambulance Subsidy
Another said the $2,000 annual subsidy to the city's two ambulance services should be eliminated. Several aldermen said the money actually was saving the city about $50,000, the amount they said would be needed if the city had to furnish the service.

There's no heat in the city dog pound at Center swamp, and the humane society is going to close its shelter near the sewage treatment plant for lack of funds. There was no talk of a city grant to the society and several aldermen said they doubt there is a heated dog house in town.

Purchasing

One alderman said he thought money could be saved by cutting back on appropriations for the city's share of curbs and gutter, grading and graveling, sidewalks and paving.

Commitments, including about $56,000 in asphalt alone, were cited.

There was discussion about purchasing habits of some departments involving minor ed last August.

items. Mayor Mitchell said he would order the clerk not to pay any bills without the mayor's initials on them.

An investigation of requirements in state laws was ordered after general accord greeted a suggestion that the city work out a self-insurance program for workmen's compensation. Setting aside of $2,000 to start the self-insurance fund was suggested. Workmen's compensation was left in the budget at $22,000 pending the investigation.

Delay Defeated

A motion to refer the entire budget back to the budget committee was defeated, 18 to 2. The city would have to readvertise the budget proposal and the time lag to the next council meeting would make it impossible to furnish the treasurer with the 15,000 tax bills by Dec. 15, the legal time limit, it was said.

A second motion, to postpone the public hearing while the council considered the budget at length, also lost 15 to 5. Delay in the tax bills could upset people who pay their taxes before Jan. 1 for federal and state income tax purposes.

Death of the Right Wing

The 1958 election dealt what was probably a death blow to the so-called right wing of the Republican party. Only a few years ago this group was a real power, especially in the Senate; its spiritual leader was the late Sen. McCarthy and it counted among its front-line fighters Sens. Jenner, Malone, Bricker, Welker, Goldwater, Revercomb and Mundt. Other influential GOP senators, such as Knowland and Bridges, often went along with this group as did some Democrats including the late Pat McCarran and a number of southerners.

In a few short years practically all these men, except for the southerners, have disappeared from the scene, some by death, some by retirement, some by defeat. Only Sen. Goldwater managed to stand up against the liberal-Democratic tide this year. But while he can expect some support from such holdovers as Bridges and Mundt, his will be a lonely voice in the congressional session coming up.

We do not mean to say that the people consciously turned against the "right wing" point of view; local conditions, personalities and the like play too great a part in our political system for such a generality to be valid. We think, rather, that the right wing wore itself out battling on emotional and to some extent meaningless issues — issues which meant a great deal to them and about which they made much sound and fury, but which simply did not interest the average voter very much.

The Bricker amendment, for example, was something that caused a great deal of excited conversation among foreign policy conservatives, but we doubt that one voter in 10 ever really understood what it was all about, and people just don't care very much about something they don't understand. It was, ironically, an issue that appealed to the intellectuals — to the egg-heads among the conservatives who like to debate fine points of constitutional law. And even as an intellectual issue it was never worth very much; it was one of those arguments about what might happen some day, if certain conditions should exist.

The right-to-work argument was similarly emotional, but had the additional disadvantage of lending itself to interpretation as an assault on the rights and welfare of working people. It, too, was really a debate about a technicality — about the exact kind of labor-management contract that should be permitted by law — but undoubtedly many people who never really understood its purpose responded to the general attack made upon it by labor leaders who shrewdly avoided the technicalities and appealed to the emotions of the workers.

Communists in government was an effective issue as long as Sen. McCarthy was present to dramatize it, but it went down the drain after McCarthy had done his work of alerting government leaders to the danger. And too, from a purely practical point of view, it was so emotional that it exhausted the country which soon became eager to find something else to talk about.

What else, really, did these ultra-conservatives have to talk about? They never really banded together effectively on the issue of economy in government, and on foreign policy seemed to disagree among themselves as much as they did with the liberals. They had, we think, plenty of opportunities to make a place for themselves in the political sun; they could have given some real support to Sen. Byrd's long and arduous campaign against government profligacy, they could have united behind the Eisenhower-Dulles policy of firmness with the Reds, they could have dramatized the issue of big government and high taxes. They may not have won congressional majorities with these issues, but at least they would have been talking about something really important instead of, in the words of Alfred Landon, "trading off good Republican senators and congressmen for unrealistic emotional issues."

Yet while the Republican right wing seems dead, the "modern" Republican wing seems almost as disappointed. In fact the GOP would be wise to forget that unfortunate phrase altogether, for despite the success of a few individual candidates "modern Republicanism" certainly does not seem to have excited a very large segment of the voting public. The very term implies a reaction against the ultra-conservative group, but has come to mean little in the way of a positive program for the good of the country.

As a result of the fratricidal war that has taken place in the Republican party, the GOP has become what Publisher John S. Knight calls a "minority without a purpose." And this is unfortunate, for we are sure that the cause of real conservatism still has a great chance not only to hold back the wild liberals but to win many votes. What it needs is leaders who know what real conservatism is and can define it in words that ordinary people can understand. It must not be a negative kind of conservatism, for negativism seldom wins elections. It must instead offer a program of progress and horse sense in domestic affairs, and clear-eyed purpose and courage in foreign affairs. Such a program, if adequately presented, can still win many votes; we do not agree with the despairing cries of some Republicans that only the spenders can win modern elections.

Evaluating Our High Schools

Dr. James Conant, who has been making a serious study of American high schools, has announced an encouraging conclusion. The basic education offered is sound enough to meet all challenges.

"The self-styled experts who suddenly knew all there was to know about education came on the scene in a hurry following Sputnik," Dr. Conant told the Council of Chief School Officers meeting in Chicago. "A serious appraisal, however, still shows no need for a basic structural change in our secondary education."

When he spoke in Madison last month Dr. Conant had some specific suggestions for Wisconsin's high schools. "Those with fewer than a hundred students per class are unable to offer a well-balanced course of study for all pupils, he feels. And classes should be divided more according to the ability of the students than is usually done."

The first recommendation has been the policy of the State Department of Public Instruction in the pressure it has exerted for the formation of union free high schools serving several school districts, its backing of a metropolitan school area plan not yet adopted by the legislature, and its encouragement of mergers of small districts. Although the department has not felt kindly about Dr. Conant's second suggestion, many school boards and administrators have put this idea into practice whenever feasible.

Point Remade

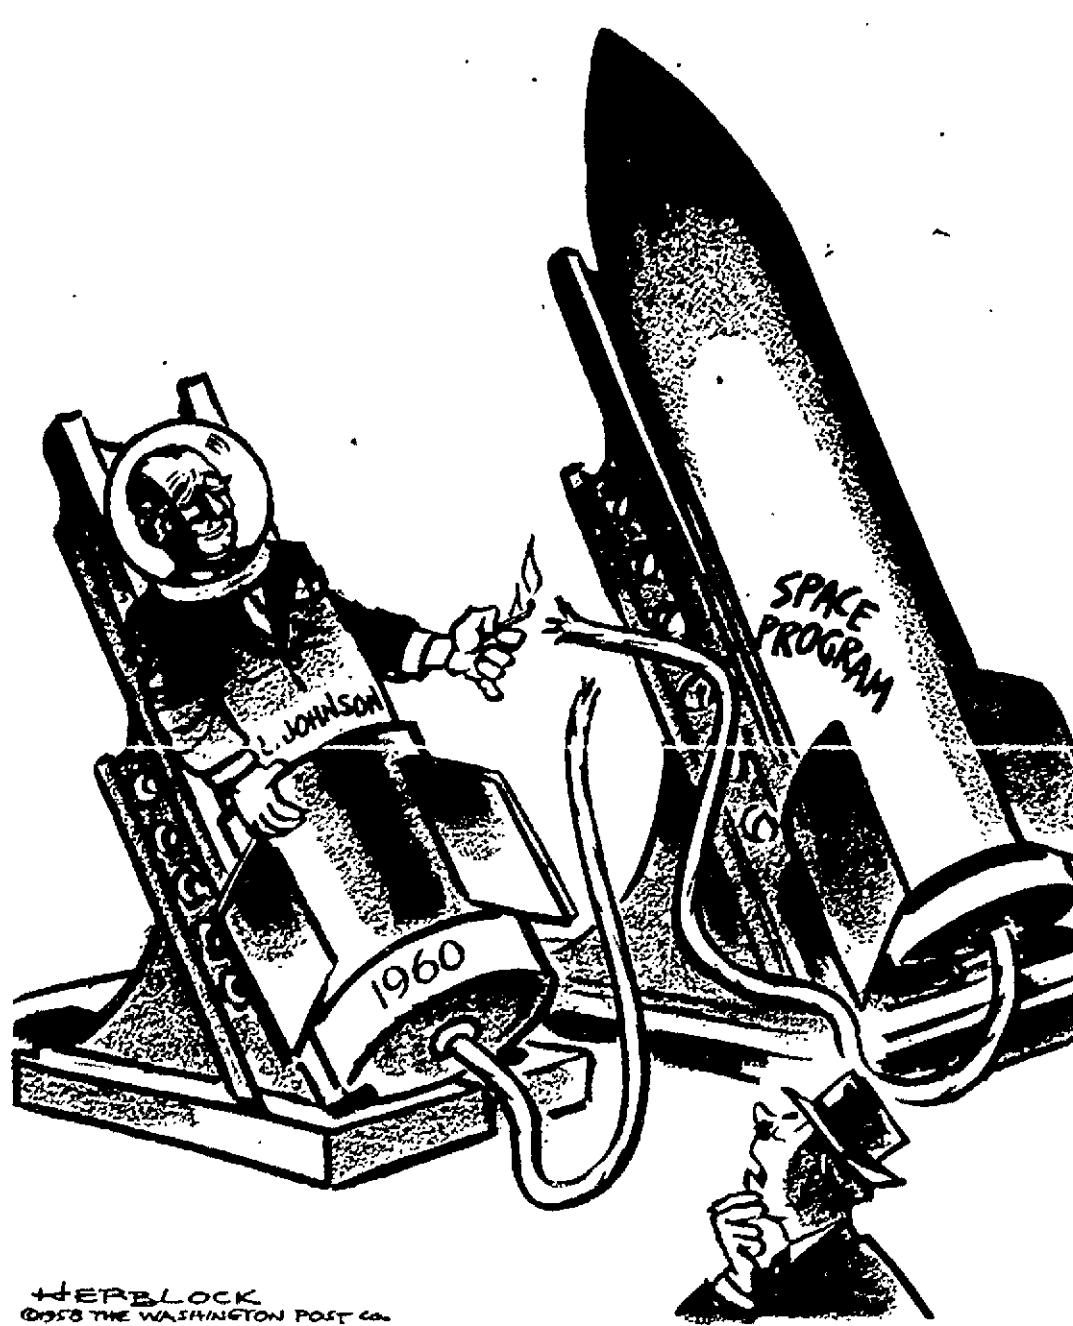

The U.S. General Assembly's Political committee again has passed a resolution concerning the reunification of Korea. By a vote of 52 to 9 with 18 abstentions, the oversized committee approved the resolution calling for all-Korean elections supervised by the United Nations.

The opposition came only from the Soviet bloc while the abstentions were mostly the hand-wringing representatives of Asian and African countries still unable to make their anti-colonialism fit in the Twentieth century. Two of the abstentions made it known later that they would have voted with the majority had they been present.

The communists have argued that they, too, are all for reunification, but that the elections must be supervised by "neutral" nations. Red China and North Korea suggested, with straight faces, such "neutrals" as Poland and Czechoslovakia. The Soviet delegate argued that the resolution was foolish since the noble Red Chinese have withdrawn their troops while several combat teams from the dastardly United States and Turkey remain in the south. But the Soviet man had one fairly truthful statement. The resolution if passed, he said, would be "useless."

At least it is hopeful to realize that in a year the Soviet has picked up no more advocates on the political committee. A similar resolution, never put into action, of course, last year passed the same committee by a vote of 53 to 9 with 16 abstentions.

Watches Store Employees Feed Parking Meters Every Hour

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This letter is the result of witnessing what I consider to be flagrant misuse of metered parking stalls in the downtown streets.

Today I noticed what I'm sure is a common occurrence in the downtown area. I watched employees come out of the various stores and office buildings, walk to their cars (parked right in front of their buildings) put money into their meters and those of their fellow employees. Then you know what? They would repeat the performance an hour later!!!

Apparently we have no city ordinance prohibiting this type of action on the part of its citizens. By their very actions obviously, the employees fail to recognize the extreme value of the limited parking area left for their patrons.

I would like to suggest what I think might be a solution to the problem. It is a way of handling this matter that has been in force in Champaign, Ill.

This is what they do: First of all make it illegal to park more than one hour in one stall on designated streets... Secondly, enforce this procedure by hiring a couple (or however many are necessary) of women, dress them in proper police force blue, female attire, and have them make an assigned "beat" on foot... This tends toward a more economical salary and the "on foot," omits the cost of a vehicle.

Naturally they would have to use a "chalk stick" to mark the tires to enforce the one hour limitation. What's that you say, one can obliterate the mark by just moving the car back and forth? True... but this in itself is a lot of bother and couldn't we put teeth into the law by having a nice big fine for those caught in the act? This just might deter a culprit.

Now maybe this suggestion is not the answer to our downtown street parking problem but surely something should be done. I think that if I owned a business in downtown Appleton I'd leave no meter unturned until the present misuse had been stopped or at least curtailed. Anyone got another idea? Meter Pecker Appleton.

P. S. And while I'm on the subject, why not have a few more "quickie meter" spots? Place some of the 12-minute limit ones in strategic spots to take care of the party who has those "just a minute" duties downtown... After all, don't we all?

Policeman Has No Right To Accuse

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The letter in the Nov. 13 People's Forum, which decried an apparent abuse of authority by a lone policeman, went much too far by also containing the charge that the "administration... gives employment and a shiny whistle to so many who are mentally incompetent..."

It is logically false to infer anything about the many from a single example. However, Mrs. Rohloff in Tuesday's Forum missed the mark in her protest against the protest. If the event occurred exactly as related, then Mr. Courtois has a legitimate complaint to make, as do all citizens who wish to retain the freedom which serves so well to define the uniqueness of the United States.

I, for one, prefer to have these matters published when they happen. In this instance the point is that while a policeman has the authority to question anyone as to his identity, he has no right to accuse people of being "prime burglary suspects," nor has he the right to order citizens from the streets, except under the most extraordinary circumstances. Since such circumstances did not prevail on this occasion, we have here an unnecessary and, I hope, illegal restriction on our freedom of movement. This case, then, represents a fundamental abuse, not a mere "discourtesy," and such

New Methodist Church Open

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Nov. 22, 1879.

On last Sunday morning, the audience room of the new Methodist Church in this city was for the first time opened for public services and an immense audience of about one thousand people, attracted by the interest of the occasion and the renown of the speakers, was seated by half past ten o'clock.

Seated in the pulpit were Dr. R. M. Hatfield, Dr. J. W. Carhart, Rev. W. H. Sampson, Rev. P. S. Bennett, Rev. S. W. Ford, and the pastor, Rev. G. S. Hubbs.

After the able sermon by Dr. Hatfield, subscriptions were taken among the audience and he sum of $2,600 was obtained in pledges. In the evening the amount was swelled to $3,200, leaving an indebtedness of only $3,500

New Ideas May Get Test at Statehouse

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — If there was any keynote to the successful Democratic campaign for the governorship this year, it was that the Republicans had permitted the statehouse to go to seed administratively.

Gaylord Nelson repeatedly described the long succession of Republican regimes as having a condition of fat and arrogance, of complacency and somnolence. Students of the voting trends may have their doubts that such criticisms had much effect in creating the result, but it is clear that the governor-elect is going to continue to perform in that key and that he will offer a bundle of reform propositions that will have a striking appearance although they may not have as much substance.

He has let it be known, for example, that he is working out what he calls a "comprehensive reorganization program," one that is so comprehensive, in fact, that it may require another three months to unveil for the edification of the lawmakers whose consent will be required to make it effective. Such matters are dramatic enough. They will be good for generous publicity and editorial comment too.

There probably will be only a few old fogies around who will insist that men are more important than tables of organization and terminology, and who will withhold their cheering until they know who will be the men who will run the system under the new Democratic dispensation.

THE ADVISORS

Meanwhile, however, these blueprints for administrative change and a "new look" in state capitol house-keeping generally will focus some attention upon a group of young men who will claim the era as their own.

During the last decade or more the capitol has had a parade of young specialists employed as quiet assistants in some of the technical aspects of administration, finance management and budget analysis. They are public administration specialists, consciously trained in college and university for governmental service. They are quite useless politically, standing above and beyond the partisan fight. They ex-things must not be tolerated, much less condoned.

pect others to win the elections. They are professional helpers.

Some of them have had great abilities. Not a few of them, in fact, have been lured away into generously paid assignments in private finance and manufacturing corporations. Of those who have remained lately Joe E. Nussbaum, Gov. - Elect Nelson's first appointee as his financial secretary, is typical. Nussbaum worked for some of the Republicans in the legislature, as an attaché of the state budget bureau. Evidently he didn't enjoy those assignments, for he quit earlier in the year to take a more congenial berth at the University of Wisconsin and to advise Nelson ex officio during the campaign.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Much of the Nelson program will be the work of Nussbaum and other young men like him.

It will be a happy arrangement. They will have the joy of trying out some of the notions which the more skeptical or cautious Republican administrations and legislatures shied away from.

Nelson will have the chance to present some of the daring and publicity-creating administrative innovations and adaptations he will require to make good his indictment of the "fat and lazy" Republicans on his autumn campaign trail of this year.

The fact that there is no real assurance of legislative enactment is not really a liability. The new administration will have the appearance of imagination and vigor, which is what it will want for the final jousting with the enemy for total control of the state government in the elections of 1960 for which the Democrats are already girding.

'Keep Off' For Autos

From The Albuquerque Journal

Boston officials recently roped off one of the downtown's principal streets and barred all autos. Pedestrians took over and turned the street into a shopping mall.

The street was given a festive air with shrubbery, plants and flowers donated by the merchants. City planners have been suggesting such pedestrian shopping malls with all vehicle traffic eliminated. The Boston experiment was judged a success and the arrangement may be extended to other streets.

The auto simply isn't welcome any more in congested centers in big cities. Albuquerque's downtown blocks, are short and it would not be difficult to give the pedestrian a mall a tryout.

The day may not be far off when pedestrians will "rule the ranch" downtown with the automobile being detoured.

Ike's Record To be Tested in 1960 Election

Much Depends on What He Does With GOP in Next 2 Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — President Eisenhower may not realize it yet but he's "running" in 1960. He isn't a candidate himself, of course, but the main issue before the American people will surely be whether to approve or disapprove of the Eisenhower administration's record.

It will not matter much who the Republican or Democratic nominees happen to be—nice personalties or politicians or individuals experienced in national and international affairs. The people will vote "yes" or "no" on the record of the Eisenhower administration.

History and precedent tell the story of the way the American electorate reacts in a presidential election. In 1920 it wasn't Warren Harding, the Republican nominee, who was elected. James M. Cox, Democrat, had been three times governor of Ohio and was by far the ablest of the two candidates. But the people were bent on voting against the Wilson administration and re-elected World War I. Wilson wasn't himself the candidate in 1920, but his record in office was the principal issue.

In 1932, Franklin Roosevelt wasn't elected on his own merits. In reality, the administration of Herbert Hoover, Republican, was defeated. The reason was the depression that began a few months after the inauguration in 1929.

An even more recent example, is the election of 1952. While Dwight Eisenhower was a popular personality, the public knew at the time very little about his ability to handle the presidency, and the voters were primarily anxious to repudiate the Truman administration. The Republican slogan of that campaign against the Democrats was "Korea, communism and corruption."

Administration Endorsed

There have been instances in which the record of an incumbent administration has been enthusiastically endorsed. Thus, in 1908 the Republicans won the presidency with a relatively unknown candidate, William Howard Taft, but it was the dynamic record made by the out-going Republican administration of Theodore Roosevelt which won the big electoral majority for Taft.

President Eisenhower has the opportunity to win the 1960 campaign for his party if he really buckles down to it. He is not the type of man to retreat from a fight. He has pride in achievement—in what his place in history as a president will be. Much will depend on what happens in the next two years. Mr. Eisenhower faces a big task—he has to organize his party immediately for the 1960 battle as well

Ike Names 'Amos' as Mexico Envoy

Washington—Freeman F. Gosden, the original Amos 'n' Andy, has been appointed by President Eisenhower as one of a 10-man delegation to represent him at the Nov. 28-Dec. 4 inauguration of Don Adolfo Lopez Mateos as president of Mexico. Gosden, a onetime tobacco salesman from Richmond, Va., has played golf with Eisenhower at Denver. The White House described him as a long time personal friend of the president.

The 50-year-old Gosden—rather, the Amos he long portrayed—has been a household word to radio and many TV fans almost since the crystal set days.

Amos is a wistful, trusting soul—often the victim of the boastful Andy (originated by Charles J. Correll) and the big-dealing "Kingfish." They are just a few of the colorful characters who populate the black-face comedy-variety series.

The original Gosden-Correll team, both white, still portrays Amos 'n' Andy on radio. A Negro cast fills the parts on a televised series. Tim Moore, who plays the Kingfish on television, is critically ill in a Los Angeles hospital. The 70-year-old Negro is suffering from tuberculosis.

As carry on an active leadership in government policies.

First and foremost, the Republicans in congress will find it necessary to hold a conference of all factions and agree on a set of principles. Once each member has announced his adherence, he would be duty bound not to go off on his own. Something reminiscent of the old system of discipline which the party caucus used to effect will be essential if there is to be a cohesive party and to conduct a real battle in the coming two years.

This, of course, means switching from tactics of constant defense to a strategy of persistent offense. The president, by the threat to use the veto power—and, indeed, by the actual exercise of the veto on specific pieces of legislation—could be in a position to focus national attention on the issues as they arise in congress. A namby-pamby attitude could only result in two years of chaos and a worse defeat for the Republicans in 1960 than in 1958.

The Republican party will find itself compelled to formulate a set of principles that all factions can endorse. Instead of waiting until 1960 to write a platform, it will have to be done early in 1959. The president is the natural person to initiate such a conference and to give his unwavering support to a new declaration.

Inflation is Issue

As for the plans of such a platform the most important issue is whether the United States shall let the dollar go down from 50 cents to 25 cents. Inflation means that all persons on pensions or looking forward to social security payments will be deprived of the purchasing power of the dollar which they have had in the past. It means that the prices of the things the farmer and the city housewife buy will be raised.

All other issues become secondary. National solvency transcends everything else. It's an issue on which all factions in the Republican party can unite. If handled effectively, it will give the Republican party a chance for victory two years hence.

The Democrats in both houses of congress have control of the purse strings. They won it in the last congressional election. The question now is what are they going to do with the purse. The issue is between the spenders and the savers—and certainly to conserve the purchasing power of the American dollar is the heart of conservatism, as well as the essence of true liberalism.

Germans Sign Accord On Berlin Free Traffic

nibble away in an effort to break western determination not to deal with the communist East German government, which the west regards as a puppet of Moscow.

The West Germans were said to feel that the chief aim of the new Soviet policy was to get the allies out of Berlin and make it completely part and parcel of East Germany.

Once the occupying powers quit Berlin, the Soviet line went, the Germans would be able to settle their problems among themselves.

The trade agreement signed on a semi-official basis in Berlin appeared to be a communist attempt at a dramatic demonstration of this.

The surprise accord sent a wave of relief over West Berliners who had feared the Reds might be getting set for another blockade of their city.

Won't Cut Supplies

The agreement published by the two countries made continued supply of West German steel to the East Germans dependent upon the right of free access to this city behind the Iron Curtain.

The free travel clause—which does not affect allied military traffic—was included as a special amendment to a 1959 interzonal trade agreement.

Authoritative sources said West German negotiators regarded the clause as a virtual guarantee that the German supply lines would not be cut in the mounting Berlin crisis.

A high West Berlin official said the agreement "is a positive sign of relief of tension."

The bulk of West Berlin's supplies moves from West Germany over a 110-mile highway-rail link and a network of canals.

Western military traffic uses these same lifelines, but is checked through Russian army controls as agreed under postwar 4-power agreements.

The United States, France and Britain do not recognize East Germany and refuse to have any dealings with its regime.

Possible Airlift

In the 1948-49 blockade, the Russians not only stopped military traffic but civilian as well. This created the need for the airlift to supply more than two million people.

Under present circumstances, an airlift would be designed to support only the 10,000 allied fighting men plus western civilian officials and their families.

Sources said the East-West German agreement also provided for an exchange of West German steel against East German soft coal, mainly for the supply of Berlin.

The West Germans have always felt they held a trump card with the East Germans in the Berlin dispute because of the interzonal trade issue.

East Germany is anxious to continue interzonal trade in order to help fulfill its ambitious economic plans.

Trade talks between East and West Germany were carried on a semi-official basis in Berlin. As before, they were regarded as being of a technical nature, which did not involve Bonn recognition of East Germany.

The agreement on access to Berlin would not interfere, however, with any communist plan to close the border between East and West Berlin.

West Berlin officials freely predicted this will be the next East German move.

By this action the East Germans could cut off free travel without passports between the two sectors of the city to close an escape hatch through which more than one million East Germans have fled to the west.

However, it would not hamper the normal flow of trade through regular customs in the same way that traffic now crosses the international frontier between East and West Germany.

Stopping this refugee flow appears to be one of the major objectives of Nikita Khrushchev's efforts to drive the western allies from Berlin. The Soviet premier demanded Nov. 10 that the United States, Britain and France withdraw their occupation troops.

33 Parents Form Human Corridor; Stop All Traffic

Portland, Ore.—Thirty-three parents formed a human corridor that halted all traffic on busy Powell boulevard here yesterday to protest heavy traffic that endangered crossing school children.

The children leaving the Creston Grade school marched in the corridor formed by parents — two fathers and 31 mothers — who stood side-by-side on the street that carries U.S. Highway 26 traffic.

Mrs. Frances Dirks, chairman of the Parent-Teacher association safety committee, said the practice would continue until the city provides a permanent red and green light, moves the crossing to an intersection, and add warning signals.

Several children have been injured at the crossing marked by push-button lights operated by patrol boys and the city ignored a letter seeking the changes, Mrs. Dirks said.

Hagerty Says Occupation Will Continue

Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary, and Army Maj. John Eisenhower, the president's son, Young Eisenhower is serving as an aide to Goodpaster.

The president and our government are keeping in close touch with the situation in Berlin, and also are keeping in close touch with the governments of the United Kingdom and the Republic of France.

"This is not a unilateral problem with the United States alone. It is a problem which concerns our two allies as well."

Asked whether he was speaking for Britain and France as well as the U. S., Hagerty replied he could speak only for this country. He stressed again that the western powers are in close consultation.

As for defining just what he meant in saying U. S. firm intentions remain unchanged, Hagerty put it this way:

"I can say that 'firm intentions' means to maintain the integrity of West Berlin."

There was no question that maintaining such integrity means, in turn, that the allies are determined to stand fast against any Soviet move to oust them from Berlin.

Japan Crown Prince May Wed Commoner

Tokyo — The chief of Japan's imperial household agency called today at the home of Michiko Shoda. Almost unanimous speculation was that the official went to complete arrangements for her engagement to Crown Prince Akihito.

Some type of announcement about the Prince's marriage plans is expected next week.

The official, Tsuyoshi Usami, met briefly with flour-company president Hidesaburo Shoda and his wife.

Their daughter Michiko and the Prince, both 24 years old, met on a tennis court at a summer resort at Karuzawa in August 1957. The Prince is rumored to have pushed aside strong opposition by Japan's pre-war peerage to his marrying a commoner.

Other Japanese girls have been mentioned as possible brides for the scholarly young prince but this was the first time Usami was known to have visited the homes of any of their parents.

Careful Driver Gets Jaw Smacked for Not Letting Man Pass

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Earl Mulliken obeyed the 25 mile an hour speed limit as he drove home and ignored the bleating horn of the motorist behind him.

When Mulliken got out of his car in his driveway, he noticed the horn-blowing stopped in front of his house. The other driver got out of his car, demanded why Mulliken hadn't got out of his way, then punched him in the mouth. Mulliken's denture was broken.

Police are looking for the other motorist.

Cracks in House Clue to Weakness

Structural Flaws Show Up in Floor Slab, Plaster, Foundation Walls

Cracks in a house often are clues to some structural weakness. They show up in the plaster, floor slab, foundation walls or chimney.

Diagonal cracks in the plaster. They start at the corners of doors and windows, spread across the walls. The cause probably is a foundation that has settled unevenly. This happens most often in houses built on filled-in or newly graded land.

Horizontal cracks in the wall plaster. They may be caused by shallow footings that have tilted outward, in turn causing walls to tilt. This defect is found most often in slab and basementless houses where footings heave in winter because they don't go down below the frost line.

Foundation Walls. Horizontal cracks in foundation walls. These occur at the grade line or halfway up; they're a tip-off to weak foundation walls. Soil pressure

Advice on Building Experts' Job

When you are planning to make an investment on the stock market, who do you go to for advice?

You go to a specialist in the investment field. Yet there are many people who plan major investments in their homes, from the addition of a room to the construction of a new house, without getting the advice of the one man who really knows—the architect.

The architect's first job is assuring you of good construction and design, but it by no means ends there. He sees to it that you get the best for your money.

Your architect coordinates all the elements going into the building, including plumbing, decorating, lighting, heating and air-conditioning.

He takes care of all the business details, including securing the mortgage on the best possible terms. He sees to it that expenditures stay within your budget. His knowledge of building codes and laws guards you against costly and embarrassing mistakes.

Standing alone, an architectural fee can seem substantial, but actually it is only a small part of the total construction cost. A good architect, through his control of labor and materials, can often save you more than the cost of his job.

It costs money to hire an architect, but it can cost even more not to.

Early Bird Times Arrive at Capitol With Democrats

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Among the changes that the Democratic administration will bring to state affairs in January, it appeared here today, is an earlier schedule of holding public meetings.

Joe E. Nusbaum, Gov-elect, Gaylord Nelson's budget adviser, announced that budget hearings will begin next Monday.

They will start, he added, each morning at 8 a.m.

Such a schedule is unprecedented in the capitol, where the legislature usually convenes at 10 a.m. and where most boards and commissions and departments holding public hearings start at 10 a.m. and never earlier than 9 a.m.

This Unique Small House is the perfect type to build where a family would want an apartment-like home. The structure needs a lot 40 feet wide. The approximate floor space is 818 square feet. The porch is 90 square feet. The plan calls for a large living room, a compact kitchen and two bedrooms. For the name of the architect, call the Post-Crescent and ask about house plan 128.

Here's the Answer

Question: I have just had galvanized steel gutters installed on my home. Is it true that I must let them weather for six months before painting or wash them with acid if I decide to paint earlier?

Answer: If you let them weather for six months (some authorities say three months are sufficient), no preparation of the surface beyond the removal of dirt is necessary before painting. If you want to paint them immediately, the correct primer—according to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer association—is metallic zinc paint, also known as zinc dust-zinc oxide paint. This primer may be left on as the finish coat if you have no objection to the battleship gray color. Otherwise, finish with the desired color of any good exterior paint.

Question: A couple of years ago a small section of the molding of a gilded portrait frame was broken off accidentally. We put the broken part aside, but could not find it when I went to look for it recently. I have tried to re-match the molding without success. One lumber dealer told me it's not standard

Start Circulating Petition Monday on Little Chute Pool

Voters Will Request Board To Make Report by July 1

Little Chute — Circulation of a petition asking the village board to conduct an investigation and survey regarding a new swimming pool here will begin Monday.

Officials of the executive committee for a municipal pool announced representatives of the committee will canvass the village with petitions between Monday and Wednesday.

The petition will ask the board to check into the cost of a pool that would use artesian well water rather than river water, size and style of pool and a probable location. The petition also will ask that the board report its findings before July 1, 1959 and that no final action will be taken until approval by the voters in a referendum.

The committee has met with the board to work out a satisfactory means of getting work started on the pool idea. The board agreed to the petition plan and will take action after the petition is received.

United Church Plans Workshop For Christmas

Kaukauna — The annual Christmas workshop for members of the Immanuel United Church of Christ parish has been scheduled for 2 p. m. Nov. 30 in the church basement.

Many projects for adults are planned along with several new ideas for children's Christmas work projects. A covered dish supper is planned after the workshop. Each family is to bring a main dish, salad or dessert sufficient for the entire family and a little extra. The family will also furnish its own sandwiches.

A display of items to be turned out at the workshop will be held in the church basement after the Nov. 23 services. Items to be used in making decorations include peanut can covers, foil plates, colored felt, stoker clunkers, old Christmas cards, beads, ribbons and burned out flash-bulbs.

Lamers, one of five league players to be selected on both the offensive and defensive teams, has been a regular on the squad for three years.

In addition to the honor, Lamers tied for the squad scoring title by catching five passes for touchdowns and getting 30 points. Halfback Dave Schimmers also had five markers.

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Knights of Columbus will sponsor two retreats at the Monte Alveno Retreat house, the first to start at 8 p. m. Nov. 28 and be concluded in the afternoon of Nov. 30.

A second retreat will be held one week later, the same hours in effect. Cards have been mailed to all members asking for reservations.

Last year several members had to be turned away because of the large number attending and already the local unit has been asked by a neighboring group to join in the retreats.

Kaukauna members will be given preference and must mail reservation cards to Vincent Steffens, John Van De Loo is chairman of the retreat committee.

21-Champions Crowned in Thilmany Fishing Contest

Kaukauna — The annual Thilmany Pulp and Paper company fishing contest has ended with 21 prize winners named and a twenty-second winner still unknown.

Competition is held in eight divisions but the winner of the brook trout division failed to put his name on the entry form. A hunt is on for the man who caught a 20-inch, 1-pound, 7-ounce trout. Norbert Gerend, supervising the contest, intends to interview all claimants to the fish and will award the prize to the man with the best fish story.

Three prizes are awarded in each of the divisions but since only two entries were submitted in two of the divisions, a plan is underway for awarding the final two prizes in these categories.

Contest Winners First prize in the musky division went to Marvin Doering for a 44-inch, 20-pound, 7-ounce fish, while runnerup honors were taken by George Paschen and Ralph Doering. Martin Roovers won the northern pike category with a 36-inch, 10-pound, 8-ounce fish. Runnerups were Norman Lenz and Dave Zwick.

Tops in the walleye division was John Van Deurzen with a 5-pound, 14-ounce, 26-inch fish. Henry Vanden Broek took second. No third place entry was submitted. A 5-pound, 2-ounce bass won first prize for Rudy Lancover while Norbert Gerend had both the second and third place fish.

Maurice Van Asten submitted a 1-pound, 13-ounce perch for tops in this division while runnerups were Sylvester Vanden Heuvel and Cliff Senso. The brook trout first place winner is not known but runnerups were Norman Mahn and Dave Zwick.

In the remaining trout division Melvin Gerrits won first with a 1-pound, 13-ounce rainbow, took second with a 1-pound, 10-ounce brown and Dave Zwick won third. Al Wuyts submitted a 17-pound, 14-ounce, 24-inch catfish and Jack Roberts took second. No third fish was entered.

Town of Howard Area Near Green Bay Held Qualified for Village

Green Bay — Circuit Judge E. M. Duquaine ruled Thursday that a 5.4 square mile area in the town of Howard and adjoining the northwest city limits of Green Bay has the legal qualifications for incorporation as a village.

A referendum will be held on the incorporation question within the next 60 days. The area has 2,303 residents. The area includes 260 acres which the city of Green Bay planned to purchase and annex for use as an industrial reserve tract. But Green Bay voters last April rejected a bond issue that would have authorized the purchase of the land.

Meanwhile, a group of Howard property owners pressed for incorporation as a village to block annexation and Judge Duquaine ruled in their favor.

KHS Cagers to Battle Wausau Saturday Night

Non-League Game Is First Athletic Meeting by Schools

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school cagers will attempt to score their first win of the season at 8 p. m. Saturday when they tangle with Wausau in the high school gym in a non-conference tilt.

This will be the first meeting in any sport between the two schools as Coach Gerry Hopfensperger has lined up several new non-conference opponents for his squad. The Ghosts dropped a 65 to 57 non-league decision to Fond du Lac Tuesday and have one more non-loop game scheduled prior to the start of league competition.

Evenly Matched Reports from the northern school indicate the Ghosts will not have to give up much of a height advantage in this contest as Wausau's tallest players are three boys all 6-1. Kaukauna has two equals as tall but the rest are well below 6-foot.

The height disadvantage was particularly noticeable in the Fond du Lac tilt where Kaukauna lost the game through failure to control the backboards. Coach Hopfensperger indicated he would again start an all junior lineup of Lee Weyenberg, Myron Zachowski, Bill Borchardt, Ron Busse and Jim Steger.

Starters for Coach Marshall Taylor of Wausau will be Tom Kellbach and Allen Yunkherr at guards, Tom Wendorf and Jay Whiting at forwards and Mike Schmidkofer at center. The Jayvee cagers from the Pan-American day skit staged by the group.

KHS Club Hopes To Buy Uniforms For Cheerleaders

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school Spanish club has adopted a project to raise funds for the purchase of new uniforms for cheerleaders at the school.

Since the cheerleading squad usually consists of eight persons, a substantial amount of money must be raised and club members expressed hope other organizations at the school would join in the effort.

Funds will be raised through dances and other special events promoted by the club. Plans are underway for the annual Christmas party and the Pan-American day skit staged by the group.

Trophy Night Plans Made by Twirling Corps

Little Chute — The Baton Twirling corps has announced plans for a trophy night at 6:30 p. m. Dec. 2 at the village hall.

Eight membership trophies will be presented and families of members have been invited to attend. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Ralph Kasten and Mrs. Henry Kuhn. Entertainment will include a Pantomime act by Nancy Vandehy and twirling demonstrations by Miss Beth Gale and Miss Marlene Verdette of Green Bay.

The annual Christmas party will be Dec. 16 and plans are in the hands of the committee which includes Mrs. Willis Schumacher, Mrs. Joseph Biesterveld, Mrs. Kasten and Mrs. Kuhn. There will not be a regular meeting in December but a dinner is being planned and a date has not been set.

Chairmen of the social committee for the meeting were Mrs. Joseph Vanden Burg and Mrs. Reginald Hermesen.

Chuters Open Cage Season

Begin 22 Game Schedule Tonight At Freedom High

Little Chute — St. John High school cagers open the 1958-59 season tonight playing at Freedom High.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick will probably select his starting lineup from six lettermen and a pair of boys who have moved up from the junior varsity team last year.

Lettermen trying for a starting spot are guards Tom Schuler, Tim Tousey and Don Hermesen, center Tom Geets and forwards Ed Hamann and Andy Ebben. They are being pressed by Mike Bongers and Gary Versteegen for starting roles.

Freedom lost its opener to Fox Valley Lutheran Tuesday night but usually is a tougher customer on its home floor.

Last year St. John defeated the Irish 58 to 42 in the single meeting between the two teams. The Chuters posted a 12-9 record for the season.

St. John faces a 22 game schedule the most games for any one season in history. New opponents include Fox Valley Lutheran, Pacelli of Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids Assumption.

Appleton Man Fined In Kimberly Court

Kimberly — Peter P. Schommer, 21, 2100 S. Oneida street, Appleton, appeared in justice court and was fined $10 and costs after he pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Albert J. Van Alphen. Schommer was arrested Oct. 31 by village police for making an illegal turn. Three points will be charged against his driving record.

Aldermen Call For Study of Reassessment

All 20 Councilmen Sign Resolution; No Money in Budget

Possibility of reassessing Appleton real estate and personal property will be studied.

A resolution introduced at Wednesday's council meeting was signed by all 20 alder- men.

Latest statistics from the state department of taxation show City Assessor John A. Pierre in August rolls had Appleton assessed at 46.47 per cent of what the state regards as real value. A breakdown shows real estate was at 45.82 per cent of real value and personal property at 51.6 per cent.

Reassessment would re- quire hiring private apprais- ers to put a market value on all taxable holdings in the city.

Nothing in Budget

Aldermen did not place any money in the 1959 city bud- get to defray the cost of ap- praisers. It is assumed they may push for some sort of plan whereby property own- ers share the cost.

Pierre has been assessor since 1943. The city last was reassessed in 1931, when the tax rate was $35. Then the rate went to $18.

Other new business intro- duced at the council meet- ing.

Ald. Pointer asked that the city planning commission bring up to date the official map, which outlines city streets, including finishing of streets for the outlying terri- tory within the 3-mile limit of city jurisdiction. The commission, he said, should try to get town governments to go along with 70 and 90-foot street right-of-ways.

Bellaire Park

Pointer also wants a study made of extending Rankin street south to Wisconsin ave- nue.

Ald. Ogilvie asked the city to turn over the 100-foot right-of-way from Green Bay road to Rankin street to the park board, including any abutting city lands. It would give the park board legal rights in de- veloping Bellaire park ra- vine, he said.

Ogilvie also requested a traffic study of the Meade street and Wisconsin avenue corner and accompanied the resolution with a letter from R. A. Saiberlich, Fox River Tractor company president.

Ald. Mrs. Stillings wants certain cross-marked areas in the parking lot at Lawrence and Allen streets earmarked for use by "pint-sized" au- tomobiles.

Telephone Booth

Ald. Groh asked for re- stricted parking on one side of W. Fourth street between Memorial drive and State street. The street is used by trucks and is very narrow, he said.

Groh also wants curb and gutter work next year on Lo- cust street between Prospect avenue and Front street.

Wisconsin Telephone com- pany asked permission to in- stall a telephone booth in city hall, with the city getting 15 per cent of the proceeds.

The Appleton State bank added its congratulations to police department and city adminis-

Indicate New Trends in Insurance

Move Toward Multiple Line Development

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Licensing of life insurance subsidiaries of two of the state's major casualty insurance companies shows a trend for multiple line development by principal insurance underwriters, the state insurance department reported today.

Life departments of the Hardware Mutual Insurance company of Stevens Point and the Farmers Mutual Insurance company of Madison have recently been chartered by the state agency.

Paul Rogan, state insurance commissioner, said his department looks for more of such multiple-line arrangements by the casualty companies in the future. The two are among the largest doing casualty business in this state. The total of casualty insurance business in the state in recent years has been substantially larger than that of the life companies, principally because of the swift advances in the sale of accident and health insurance.

But the life business of the state is substantial, and its premium income is now nearly 40 per cent of all the premium income for all insurance sold in the state annually.

Life insurance premiums amount to about $224,000,000 yearly and have been gaining substantially each year. There is now about $10 billions of life insurance in force in the state.

Filter Center Will be Closed

Eye Not Quick Enough for Modern Planes, U. S. Says

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — The Green Bay filter center, in operation here since August, 1950, will be closed after Jan. 31, Lt. Roger Miller, center commander, announced today.

Disbanding of the local center and 49 others throughout the nation was ordered Thursday by Secy. of the Air Force James Douglas.

The reason is because the human eye cannot keep up with requirements of the jet and missile age and radar soon will replace the 280,000 civilian volunteers who spent many hours in the past nine years watching for enemy planes in American skies, he said.

The Green Bay center has operated with a staff of 24 air force personnel and 326 civilian volunteers and is the only filter center in Wisconsin.

Its area of responsibility has covered all or portions of five states including Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin. The area covered in these five states exceeds more than 57,345 square miles. An additional 6,000 volunteers are active in these states, reporting incidents direct to the Green Bay center.

All air force personnel, including Lt. Miller, Lt. Byran Carroll, operations officer; and Lt. Robert Hoxie, adjutant, will be transferred to other posts.

The city council has ordered flowers sent former Mayor Robert L. Roemer, who is ill and scheduled to be released today from St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mercer Likes Both 'Kiss Me, Kate', 'Old Man' Shows

BY CHARLES MERCER

New York — "Kiss Me Kate," as presented by Hall of Fame Thursday night, was a gay romp, a delight.

Alfred Drake and Patricia Morison, in the leading roles, offered the delightful voice and verve that they displayed on Broadway as they romped the sets and sang such number as "Wonderbar" and "So in Love."

Julie Wilson, who played the role of Bianca on the road and in London, had gratifying gusto as the happy hoyden on television. When she belted "Always True to You in My Fashion," for example, you wondered why she isn't seen and heard more often on the home screen.

"Playhouse 90" presented a superb adaptation of William Faulkner's "Old Man," an ironic tale of duty and human endurance.

Sterling Hayden gave a great performance as a proud, inarticulate heroic convict in the 1927 Mississippi flood who endured an inferno of nature and man in his single-minded effort to attain personal integrity.

Integrity to him meant returning to the state prison farm after he'd been sent out to rescue from the flood a pregnant, sun-bonneted Susan, eloquently portrayed by Geraldine Page.

This was a tremendous drama, one of the finest of the season, notable in cast, direction and production.

Dead Sailor Brother of Shiocton Man

William Elliott, Rogers City, Mich., one of the men drowned in the sinking of a Great Lakes freighter Tuesday night, was the brother of James Elliott, route 2, Shiocton.

His body was recovered late Wednesday afternoon.

Elliott said his brother was one of the men originally on the raft from which two sailors were rescued. The raft tipped over three times during the night, apparently throwing Elliott into the water. The dead man was not wearing a life jacket, but one was found in his hand when the body was recovered.

The two brothers sailed together on the Great Lakes from 1948 to 1951.

James Elliott was transferred to the ship four days ago, his brother said.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Medical Review Planned in Driver's Death

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — Municipal Judge Donald Gleason said he will review medical testimony before sentencing a tavern-keeper who was convicted Thursday of homicide by reckless conduct.

Judge Gleason found Clarence Dombrowski, 36, Green Bay, guilty in the death of a beer truck driver, Cyril LeGros, 40, last June 1.

Dombrowski admitted in court that he struck LeGros on the head with a wooden ice crusher May 26.

Dr. Marvin Blackburn, a pathologist, testified it was impossible to name any one specific thing as the cause of LeGros' death. Another pathologist, Dr. John Ford, testified LeGros died from infected head wounds, but added that LeGros' diabetic condition was a contributing factor.

Yards to Launch Ship Made by Ex-Appletonian

Vessel Said to be Largest Ever Built for Company

A former Appleton man, Arthur J. Zuehlke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Zuehlke, 1321 Alicia drive, is the designer of Hull 424, largest vessel ever built by Manitowoc Shipbuilding, Inc., for American Steamship company.

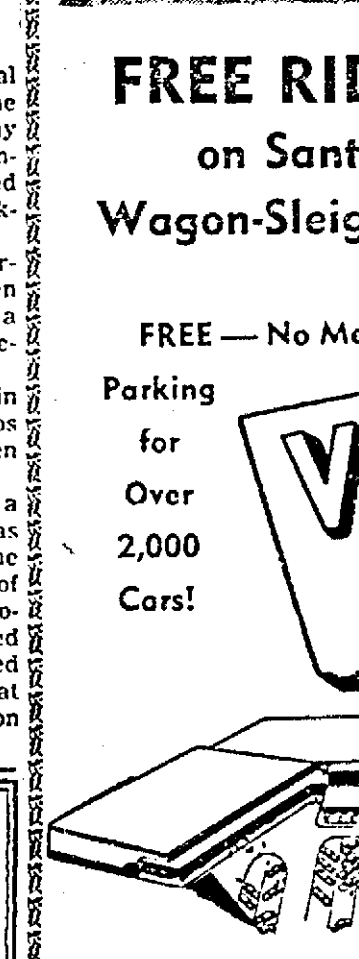

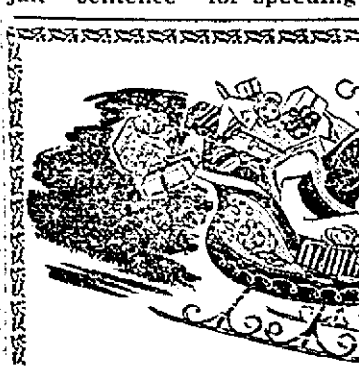

The ship will be launched sideways at noon Tuesday from the shipyards in Manitowoc.

Zuehlke is a vice president of the shipbuilding firm. The ship is slightly more than 666 feet long—about the length of two city blocks—with a beam of 72 feet and a depth of 40 feet. A single 18.5-foot in diameter propeller will be driven by a 7,000-horsepower engine. Speed, when loaded, will be in excess of 16 miles an hour.

Building of Hull 424 gave employment to over 800 men, who worked steadily for one year, both in construction and other work connected with the project.

For Awkward Arms
A teen lovely writes: I have my first real formal. No sleeves, just little straps! It's thrilling, but there is a terrible hitch. My arms look so awkward, it's embarrassing. What would make them look less gawky—in a hurry?

As this is the season for "first formal," many teens are becoming arm-conscious. For all, here's the answer: You can teach your arms to behave gracefully, without thought on your part, if you practice the following routines if'n you practice!

Burmese Troops, Wives Die as Boat Sinks

Rangoon, Burma — A motorboat carrying 25 Burmese soldiers and their families caught fire and sank today. Reports said 26 women and eight soldiers died.

The accident occurred near Moulmein, 100 miles east of Rangoon. The boat was one of three hired to move army families.

before a mirror, 10 minutes daily for a week.

Stand tall, raise arms high over head and place backs of hands together. Then suddenly let arms fall sideways — really let them drop. Now note the results—how the elbows are relaxed in pretty curves, how the hands just touch the body with the sides turned prettily forward. This is one of the most graceful arm positions. To make it yours, repeat the routine 20 times.

With arms relaxed, clasp the hands lightly and low in front of the body and then behind the body. Nice poses, those—better repeat and repeat!

Of course, there are many other "composers" for the arms. Watch the column for them. Meantime, those given today will do you proud, if'n you practice!

Drop Big Names From New York '59 Blue Book

New York — The 1959 edition of the New York Social Register is minus the names of such personages as Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Novelist John P. Marquand and Georgia Rockefeller.

The latest edition of society's blue book, out Friday, also dropped socialite Timothy Fales, who last week married entertainer Josephine Premice, a Negro. Fales' elimination, however, stemmed from his earlier divorce from Ellen Wood, former model.

Whitney was eliminated for divorcing his third wife, Eleanor Searle, to marry Hollywood actress Mary Hestford. Eleanor, however, remains listed.

Marquand lost his listing as a result of his divorce from his second wife.

Miss Rockefeller, formerly of Greenwich, Conn., was dropped for marrying unlisted J. Harden Rose of Lockport, Ill.

Lillian Bostwick, heiress to a sugar refining fortune, was also eliminated. She married a physician, Elmer W. Davis.

Your Problems

Dream of 'Being Somebody' Has Drawbacks for Ambitious Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: All my life I've dreamed of being somebody. I always wanted to be in the movies, but two years ago I decided the real money and glamor was in TV commercials. I kept my eyes open and noticed the girls who got the breaks didn't Ann Landers necessarily have the talent. I had a falling out with my folks last March. I quit school in my second year of high and moved out of the house. They wanted me to go with young high-school punks. I tried to explain that older men could help me with my career.

I dated TV producers, agents and prospective clients. Some were married men but my folks couldn't get it through their heads that I wasn't interested in romance. It was strictly business.

Last week my dad phoned to say he's been hearing some ugly rumors and if I don't move back in the house the door will be closed for good. I make more money right now than he does. Why shouldn't he be proud of me? I have ambition and want to make a name for myself. Please print my letter and explain it to them.—Robin

It sounds as if you've already made a name for yourself, but no family newspaper would print it. According to my calculations you're about 17 years old, Robin; pretty young to have left the nest. Dating married men for professional reasons may seem like smart business, but what do you think this does to your reputation?

Ambition and the desire to amount to something are admirable, but your notions of success and how to achieve it could wreck your young life. You belong at home, and back in school.

I don't kid myself that you'll accept this advice, but I would be remiss in my obligation if I hadn't at least made an attempt to set you straight.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You make a special point to knock lonely hearts clubs. Why? You go out of your way to recommend YMCA or YWCA, political groups, American Heritage, Great Books and other organizations. What's the difference?

There are millions of lonely some people in this world. What does it matter how they get together? I wish you'd get off that puritanical kick and be realistic. —P.D.Q.

If you don't know the difference between lonely hearts clubs and the organizations I recommend, it's you who needs educating. Lonely hearts clubs are a business. They are run for a profit. Anyone who has $1 or $2 or $10 can buy a list of names and addresses, complete with pictures plus a 50-word description of the parties interested in getting acquainted.

Some people on the list may be perfectly O.K., but a set-up of this type is bound to attract phonies and opportunists.

I've said it before and I'll say it again—strangers can be dangerous. For this reason I never put readers of this column in touch with one another. I believe people should find their own friends—and their own trouble.

DEAR ANN: A lovely woman we've known and admired for years up and married a brash, loud-mouth bore. She's 38 and her groom is 23.

He dominates every conversation, considers himself an authority on the Russian situation yet he says Krush-neff and makes other errors which expose his ignorance. He's overbearing and obnoxious. We hate to exclude her from the group but he's too darned hard to take. Advice?—The Bunch

We all know couples of whom it is said "Love her—stand him". If you love her enough, then you put up with him. If not, exclude them both. This is part of the price she must pay for a "weird selection".

The Women's Unit of the Moose organization gave a check for $100 to the Appleton Mentally Retarded Children's school foundation. Left to right are Mrs. William Peterson, recorder; Mrs. Sidney Holcomb, senior regent; Gilbert Mauthe, Outagamie county counselor for the mentally retarded; and Franklin N. Schneider, Milwaukee, executive director for the Wisconsin Council for Mentally Retarded Children, Inc.

Mother Told To Explain About Cost

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our daughter was married recently and of course pictures were taken of the wedding. Several of our nearest relatives have expressed a wish to have a picture of my daughter. As you know these pictures are quite expensive and I am wondering if furnishing them with pictures is our responsibility. Will you please tell me how this situation is handled?

Answer: This is a very difficult situation because each and every loving relative and friend not only would like a picture, but expects to be given one, and they are so much more costly than one imagines. I would suggest that you tell those who ask for them that you wish you could give each one a picture but that they cost (however many dollars apiece) and that you cannot afford to give them. Then explain that if they really want one they can order one from the photographer who will be delighted to take their order.

Wife Waits in Car

Dear Mrs. Post: One of the men with whom my husband works stopped at our house last Sunday afternoon to see my husband about a business matter. His wife waited out in the car for him. Do you think I was rude not to go out and ask her to come in? She was a complete stranger to me.

Answer: If you knew his wife was waiting in the car, you should have asked the husband if she would not like to come in and then, unless he assured you she would rather not, gone out and invite her to join you.

No to Bikini Suit

U. S. Girls Most Modest in World, Says Swimwear Leader

Portland, Ore. —American girls are the most modest in the world, says John A. Zehnbauer, who has been studying this subject for half a century.

"French girls and German girls think nothing of wearing bikini bathing suits," says the man who supplies most of the world with swimwear. "In Australia and South Africa, Hong Kong and South America, the girls aren't worried about exposure. But in America we can't even get a model to pose in a bikini."

Bathing Beauties Approve

Zehnbauer, with his brother Roy and their late partner, Carl Jantzen, has turned out swim suits for most of the bathing beauties of history, from Gloria Swanson and the Mack Sennett girls to Greta Garbo and the Lollabrigada. Since 1910, when he bought out a little knitting mill in Portland and knitted a suit for a local rowing team, he has made water-wear his chief concern. Today the Jantzen company has factories or licensees in 18 countries, studies the swim whims of every nation and collects design ideas from every corner of the world.

Young People Find Candy Sale Ideal to Get Christmas Cash

A candy sale is an ideal way to raise Christmas money. Many young people find that a gaily wrapped box or jar of Christmas candy, jelly, cookies, fruit cake sells like hot cakes, putting money into the club treasury or their own bank account.

Before you start your candy or cookie - making, assemble some attractive, inexpensive containers. These may be found in variety stores, and make handsome gizmos.

If they serve a dual purpose so much the better. Small tins, foil pie and casserole pans all make attractive receptacles for your prize confections. The small apothecary jars, now reproduced inexpensively are especially interesting selling inducements. They may be used later for a number of things. A red ribbon bow completes that package to any purchaser's satisfaction.

Recipes

Here are some recipes: Maybe you can pry an extra-special one loose from grandma, and that selling point labeled "family secret" will have impact on the buyer.

Caramel Fudge Drops: Mix 2-3 cup (small can) of evaporated milk with 1-2 cups of sugar and ¼ teaspoon of salt in a saucepan over low heat. When fudge boils, cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Now add marshmallows, caramel chips, vanilla and pecans. You'll need about 1½ cups caramel chips, 1 teaspoon vanilla and ¼ cup chopped pecans.

Fudge Rolls: Omit caramel chips and use semi-sweet chocolate chips instead. Omit pecans. Cool for 30 minutes. Divide into 4 portions. Shape into rolls. Chop ¼ cup pecans very fine and coat fudge with it.

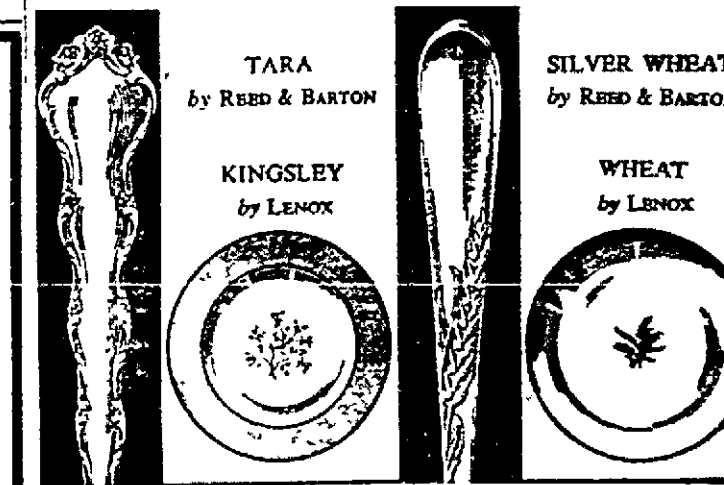

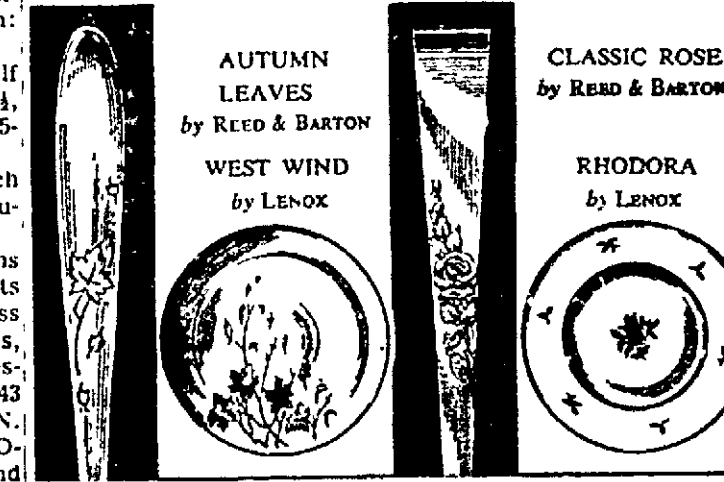

Almond Squares

Almond Chiffon Squares: Sprinkle 3 tablespoons of gelatin on ¼ cup of cold water in a large mixing bowl. Combine 2 cups of sugar, 2 tablespoons of light corn syrup, ½ cup of water in a 2-quart sauce pan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until syrup reaches rolling boil for 5 minutes without stirring. Remove from heat. Pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add ¼ teaspoon vanilla and 1 teaspoon almond flavoring. Cool at room temperature to consistency of thick syrup (about 45 to 60 minutes). Stir occasionally. Pour ¼ cup of ice water into a mixing bowl. Add 1 cup instant dry milk crystals and whip until little soft peaks form (about 3 or 4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons of lemon or lime juice and whip until stiff (about 3 to 4 minutes). Beat into the gelatin mixture. Blend until the mixture is smooth. Pour into buttered 9-inch square pan. Chill 1 hour. Cut into 49 pieces, making 7 almonds on each side. Roll in almonds.

He is a noted American author in his own right with this, his fourteenth, book. Besides text books, Havighurst

The present university series of which "The Miami Years" is a part includes histories of the University of Minnesota, Stanford and Columbia universities.

Scholarly Volume

The appearance of a sesquicentennial history of a university west of the Alleghenies is one more proof that America has come of age. Prof. Havighurst's sympathetic and scholarly volume shows that the American heartland has been a lively place of varied activities and many changes during the last 150 years. In these activities and changes, Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, has had a significant part.

Dean Makes Plea for Development Of Broadly-Cultured Individual

BY JAMES BATT

Madison—At a time when much of the current clamor over American education concerns the need for specialists, Dean Mark H. Ingraham of the college of letters and science makes a plea for the development of the broadly cultural individual.

Dean Ingraham is the epitome of broad and basic educational background. Associated with the university faculty since 1919, with exception of brief periods at Brown and Chicago, he majored in economics as an undergraduate.

This is the fourth in a series of six interviews with educators at the University of Wisconsin. Today's article presents the views of Dean Mark H. Ingraham of the college of letters and sciences.

One has a right to be educated in such a way that he will be a more interesting person in his own eyes. Above all, the human tragedy of being a bore to oneself should be avoided," he says.

Man's Usefulness

2. "We must consider the other side of the coin—man's usefulness to society. I don't believe there has ever been a period in our history when it was more important for individuals to understand others, yet present-day emphasis on early specialization can hinder this.

"Advances in transportation and communication have made mutual understanding a necessity, and a responsibility of good citizenship. Course-work such as foreign languages, geography and history are of much value in this respect," Dean Ingraham explains.

3. Contrary to contemporary educational policy, Dean Ingraham believes capable students should not specialize too early in their education. He says, "Some achieve a liberal education beyond what is now generally the custom. Heing, I've known specialists with broad interests."

Dean Ingraham compares acquiring pleasure in the use of the mind to that of learning to ride a bicycle. "At first, we may be a little stiff, but later on—through repeated effort—it becomes enjoyable."

Little Nine Basketball Race Starts Tuesday

Hortonville Quint Has Captured Two Straight Crowns

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE (Final 1957-8 Standings)

Hortonville 12 9 Reedsville 6 7 Denmark 12 1 Shiocton 5 8 Omro 9 4 Freedom 4 9 Bear Creek 7 6 Hilbert 2 11 Winneconne 7 6 Wrightstown 8 13

The Little Nine conference basketball race begins Tuesday night, and rivals of defending champion Hortonville seem to have their best chance in several years of deposing the Polar Bears.

In reigning as Little Nine monarch the past two seasons Hortonville has won 25 of 26 circuit games. It went through its 13-game loop schedule unbeaten last season and finished the year with a 22-1 mark, losing only to Manitowoc in the finals of the Neenah Sectional tourney.

Gone from that club are stars Jim Steffen, Dennis Sommers and Bob Broehm. Two regulars — Joe Steffen and Don Otto — return.

Evens Off Caliber Tending to even off the caliber of conference clubs even more this season is the fact that Denmark — which would have been the conference power last year if Hortonville hadn't been around — has just one fellow back who saw much action last season.

Omro has three regulars returning from its 1957-8 club and four other promising players 5-11 or over. And Shiocton, which copied just five of 13 conference starts last season, has five of its regulars back.

Tuesday's openers send Denmark to Freedom, Hilbert to Reedsville, Winneconne to Wrightstown, Bear Creek to Hortonville and Omro to Shiocton. Each team plays a 13-game schedule.

New coaches are holding forth at: Winneconne (Tom O'Brien), Wrightstown (Cliff Hinkens) and Freedom (John Van Egeren). The team-by-team rundown follows:

HORTONVILLE — Joe Steffen, 5-10, senior guard, and Otto, 6-2, senior center, lead Coach Russ Tiedemann's returning delegation.

In competition for the other three starting jobs will be: lettermen Larry Collar 6-0 junior guard, and Ken Huebner, 5-11 junior forward; transfer Gary Kohl, 6-1 junior forward; juniors John Nielson, 5-11 guard, and Don Laird, 6-2, center; and sophomores Herman Schwebbs, 5-8 guard; and Roger Mulroy, 5-8 forward.

Otto and Steffen are the lone seniors on the first ten.

DENMARK — A major rebuilding job is fourth-year Coach John Hickey's assignment here. Senior forward Keith Larsen (6-1) is the only vet with much experience.

Lowell Hansen, 5-8 junior guard, and Lloyd Pantzlaff, 6-1 senior center, also earned letters last season. The other starters are expected to be: Arnie Gorske, 5-9 junior forward, and Jim Selner, 5-7 junior guard.

OMRO — In his sophomore season as coach, Bob Sutherland has a nucleus of five lettermen, three of whom were regulars on last season's third place club. The returning starters, all seniors, are: 6-4 forward Doug Emerson and guards Tom Ellis (5-11) and Jim Thomas (5-9).

Other returning monogrammees are: seniors Glen Frank, 6-0 forward-center, and Dick Butkiewicz 6-1 forward.

Other top prospects are: Bill Ristow, 6-3 senior center-forward, in his first season of basketball; and 6-0 senior forward Dave Alto.

BEAR CREEK — Veteran Coach Frank McClone, in his thirteenth year, has four lettermen back from a club which was 11-11 overall in 1957-8. Vets include: senior forwards Gary Affeldt (5-10) and Dick Malliet (5-11) senior guard Jack Jepson (5-10) and junior guard Tom McClone (5-10).

Other leading candidates are: seniors Ray Gibbs (5-11) forward, Bill Hoffman (6-0) center, and Joe Shaddock (6-0) forward-center.

WINNECONNE — Winneconne lost heavily from the 1957-8 club. Four lettermen return, but the group didn't see a great deal of action. The lettered candidates are: seniors Bryce Schmude, 5-8 guard, Don Lipske, 5-10 guard, and Orville Luebbe, 5-10 center, and junior Ron Miller, 5-9 guard.

REEDSVILLE — The Panthers' top scorer last season, 6-2 junior center Rollie Zipperer, has had to take things early thus far because of a football injury. Coach Bob Wilson (third year) has just one other returning letterman 5-11 guard Jim Phillips, the club's only senior. Other returning letterman 5-11 guard Jim Phillips, the club's only senior. Other top candidates are: juniors Ron Grim, 5-4 guard, forwards Dorel Stueck (6-2), Ken Behnke (5-11) and Frank Foytik (5-10) and forward-center Mel Kiekhafer (6-2).

SHIOCTON — The Chiefs' roster sports six lettermen including five 1957-58 regulars. John Bowers, in his sophomore season at the helm, is working with: seniors Myron Kruzicki, 6-0 forward; Harold Duprey, 6-4 center; Bob Brownson, 5-11 guard; junior Barry Schwandt, 5-8 guard, and sophomore John Johnson, 6-0 forward, all regulars, as well as senior forward Don Theobald, 6-0 senior forward.

FREEDOM — Four seniors and one junior lettered vets are present for Van Egeren to build around. Seniors include: Wally Knaack, 6-2 center, and guards Dan Carney (5-9), Leroy Korts (5-11), and Lyle Swinkles (5-10).

The junior is 6-1 forward Vern Bowers. A transfer from Seymour high, 6-2 junior forward Wayne Krueger, will also help as will 6-0 junior forward Ken Frederickson.

HILBERT — One of the five lettermen is 6-0 senior guard Bob Loewe, who scored at an average of 18.1 pnts per game last season, his third on the varsity. Other seniors include: Don Propson, 6-1 center; Dave Harder, 6-0 forward, and Herbert Harder, 5-11 forward.

Guard Clare Ott, 5-10, is the junior who lettered last season. Coach Ed Burns is in his second season.

WRIGHTSTOWN — Hinkens has a letterman for each starting spot — two guards, Bob Geyso, a 5-6 junior, and Curt Meulemans, a 5-8 senior, center Paul Geurts, a 6-4 senior; and forwards Danny Lamers, a 5-11 sophomore, and Gene Allen, a 6-2 senior. Wrightstown lost 13 straight league games last year. The schedule follows:

Menasha Vies With Bays in UW Cage Loop

Both Clubs Make Bid for Initial Conference Win

Menasha — Winless in its first two starts, the Menasha Extension five will make its third University of Wisconsin Extension center conference outing Saturday evening at Green Bay.

The Troiters were defeated by Kenosha and Racine last weekend. The Bay Badgers made the same trip to the southern part of the state and lost to the same foes.

Green Bay is coached by Bob Goeman, former Appleton High school captain, who succeeded Carl Stodolka.

The Troiters are expected to be strengthened by the addition of several players who were unable to make last weekend's two-day trip because of working or other reasons. Coach Bob Bachhuber only had seven players in uniform.

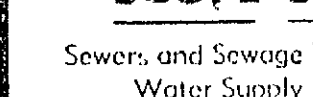

Menasha's Jim Hanson of last year's Bluejay squad ranks third in the conference in scoring with 23 points. Ron Kaminski has 21.

Green Bay has the second ranking pointmaker in Merrill Millhouser with 33 in two starts. Bill Snelling has 19.

Last year's Menasha squad collected two wins over its foe from the Packer city.

Agent Reminds Farmers of Corn Plan Referendum

Oshkosh — Farmers were reminded today by Donald J. Tripp, assistant agriculture agent, of the corn referendum vote Tuesday at the Winnebago town hall, Oshkosh city hall and the county ASC office.

Corn producers are to vote for one of two programs to apply to corn produced in 1959 and later years. One plan calls for no acreage allotments, no commercial corn area and a price support levied on all eligible corn at about $1.12 to $1.15 per bushel for 1959.

The second plan is essentially the same program as being used now. This is acreage allotments based on corn supply, commercial corn area and a price support only for corn grown in compliance. It is expected the 1959 price will be $1.24 to $1.27 per bushel for this plan, Tripp said.

Proposes Ban On Houseboats

Lake Winnebago, Green Bay Would be Exempt Under Law

Madison — Prohibition of houseboats on the inland waters of Wisconsin will be proposed to the 1959 legislature.

Such a law has been endorsed by a legislative interim committee which has studied recreational boating problems in general, with a view to writing a regulatory code in the new legislative session.

Principal advocate of a house boat prohibition is Sen. William F. Trinke of Lake Geneva, who claims that houseboaters are becoming a nuisance through their numbers and their habits on the heavily manned lake of that name in Walworth county. Lake Geneva attracts heavy patronage from residents of Illinois.

Exempt Waters

The legislation to outlaw houseboats would apply on all Wisconsin waters except the Mississippi river, the Great Lakes and Green Bay and Lake Winnebago, according to the draft prepared here by the Trinke committee.

House boats present problems for other lake users and riparian owners because of the difficulties in disposing of wastes and garbage, according to testimony before the study group.

The house boat idea has also become more popular in recent years, as has boating in general. The state does not now have specific regulatory laws on boating.

Howton Blasts NFL Owners and Officials

Says Players May Resort to 'Extreme Measures' Unless Negotiations Improve

Green Bay — (AP) — Billy Howton, president of the National Football League Players' association, asserted Thursday night the players will have to "resort to extreme measures" unless negotiations with club owners and league officials improve.

Howton, an end for the Green Bay Packers, did not say to what length the players would go. He said negotiations concern a huddle game money.

Done Very Well

"As president of the Players' association, I say if we do not have some definite results from the next December meeting regarding these matters, we will have no alternative but to resort to extreme measures," Howton said in a verbal statement.

"I think they've (the players) done very well," Commissioner Bert Bell said in Philadelphia. "After all, Rome wasn't built in a day."

Howton said the association has tried to conduct the negotiations in a businesslike manner but without results.

"We've gotten a lot of conversation from the commissioner's office (Bert Bell), who has no authority to act or decide on these matters," Howton said.

Howton added that the players are seeking the formation of a players-owners committee, with three owners on the committee having the authority.

Vikings' Schwendler Selected as Guard On All-MC Eleven

Kasson, Smith, Schmucker are 1st-Team Repeaters

Carl Schwendler, stellar Lawrence college senior line-man, today was named as first-team guard on the all-Midwest conference football team.

Last season, the 195-pound Appletonian was selected on the second team.

Schwendler was the only Vike named to either the first or second team voted by conference players on an all-opponent basis. Coaches compiled the results during their meeting in Chicago.

Lawrence halfback Dave Mulford, center Dave Hack-worthy and guard Jim Reiskyl were accorded honorable mention.

Three players repeated as first-team choices. They are back Dave Smith and end Pete Kasson, both of Ripon, and back Al Schmucker, Carleton.

Champion Ooe won four first-team berths: quarter-back Jerry Stonebarger, tackle Bruce Haudek, end Louis Knudtson and center Dave Wessel.

Rounding out the all-conference "11" are back John Copeland, Grinnell; tackle Jerry Erickson, Carleton; and guard George Williams, Carleton.

Ripon choices on the second team included back Dick Celichowski (a first-teamer last year) and guard Jack Flaker.

McHale Hints More Tigers May be Traded

Martin, Cicotte Go to Cleveland In 5-Player Swap

BY DAVE DILES
Detroit — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have pulled off the first major deal of the winter trading season, and General Manager John J. McHale hints at other trades involving front-line players.

Martin Cicotte

The Tigers' general manager, an active and eager dealer since he took over the front office two seasons ago, got together with master-trader Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians Thursday and worked this swap:

Infielder Billy Martin and second-line pitcher Al Cicotte to the Indians for relief ace

Mal Anderson Upset by Earl Buchholz

Sydney — (AP) — Hopes that the United States might regain the Davis cup this year soared today as young Earl Buchholz whipped Mal Anderson, crack Australian Davis cupper, in the New South Wales Tennis championships.

The 18-year-old from St. Louis played like a champion in downing Anderson, 6-3, 6-3, 9-7, in a second round match.

Buchholz, who started playing tennis at the age of six, emerged as one of America's hopes to win back the Davis cup from Australia when he won the Junior Championship at Wimbledon in England last July.

Chris Crawford was the only one of the 5-man U.S. Davis cup squad to be eliminated in the singles. He lost in a quick 55 minutes to Roy Emerson, Aussie star, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Barry MacKay, Ham Richardson and Alex Almedo all won.

Vike '5' Opens Dec. 2 Against Lake Forest

The Lawrence college basketball team, with only two lettermen in its 14-man complement, is preparing for its Dec. 2 opener at Lake Forest.

Bill Weber, 6-3 senior center, and Rick Ramsey, 5-9 junior guard, are the only returning Vike lettermen.

Full Squad Drilling

This is the first week of practice for the full squad. However, the basketball candidates who weren't members of the football squad have had two extra weeks of work.

Coach Don Boya's charges are scheduled for 22 games—two more than the 1957-8 team played, in registering a record of one win, 19 losses.

10 to End Careers in Gopher Fray

Madison — (AP) — When Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin became head coach in 1956, four sophomores on his "Baby Badger" team were rated highly in pre-season speculation.

When Wisconsin meets Minnesota here Saturday, the same four will be prominent in the starting lineup as they play their last college game.

The four durable stars from the 1956 team of underclassmen are end Dave Kocourek, fullback Jon Hobbs, guard Jim Fraser and center Dick Teak.

A fifth "Baby Badger," who surprised the experts with his ability this year as a senior, is end Earl Hill.

The Badgers, the favorites Saturday, have a chance to give Bruhn his best season record as head coach. They also have a chance to post the best Wisconsin record in the Big Ten since 1952.

Five other seniors will be playing their final game here Saturday. They are Gil Blackmun and Sidney Williams, quarterbacks; Guards Paul Shwaiko, Melvin Morris and George Chryst, who also has played center.

Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota plans to start at least eight seniors.

Minnesota bounced back last Saturday with a 39-12 romp over Michigan State to give the Gophers their first victory after losing 10 games.

Warmath is telling his Gophers they are not as bad as the record indicates. A Wisconsin scout, who saw the Gophers down the Spartans, is spreading the same story around Camp Randall.

The Badgers, with 6-1-1 season record, are favored by 13 points. Wisconsin won last year's game at Minneapolis.

About 53,000 fans are expected for the game, which will be the sixty-eighth between the teams since 1890. Minnesota holds a 38-21 edge, with eight ties.

43 Pros Shatter Par in West Palm Beach Play

West Palm Beach, Fla. — (AP) — Golfers had to beat par today to stay anywhere near the leaders in the $15,000 West Palm Beach Invitational tournament.

A new competitive course record of 65, seven under par, already was in the books and 43 of the touring pros broke par in opening play Thursday.

The tournament ends Sunday.

Leading the pack were two 26-year-olds, Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., and Wesley Ellis, Jr., of Aldecress, N. J. Weaver shot 31-34 and Ellis carded 33-32 to clip one stroke of the record equalled earlier in the day by Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Mike Souchak of Grossingers,

UW Frosh Duel Varsity Monday

Ullwelling to Play For Badger Yearling Cagers

Madison — The annual University of Wisconsin varsity-freshman basketball game will be played at 8 p.m. Monday in the field house.

The Varsity starters will probably be Bob Barneson and John Stack at the forwards, Ray Gross at center, and Brian Kulas and either Jim Rognedy, Steve Stephens, or Bob Serbiak at guards.

They will match their experience with the aggressiveness of a freshman team that includes such heralded players as Chicago's Frank Burks, a 6-4 forward, and Jack Kotter, a 6-6 center from Mount Vernon, Ill., guards Dick Box, Herrin, Ill., Bob Powers, Madison East, and Jack Ullwelling, a 6-foot guard from Appleton, with the Chicago club.

Other outstanding frosh include Bob Warnock, a 6-8 center from Chicago; Tom Hughes, a 6-5 center from Green Bay; forward John Zwakman, 6-3 from Superior Central; and Marty Gharritty of Shawano.

Buchik, erstwhile third string quarter-back of the Washington Redskins of the National Football league became the official property of the Chicago Bears Thursday.

But Buchik, claimed by the Bears after the "Skins asked" waivers on him Thursday, said he isn't sure he'll sign a 6-foot guard from Appleton, with the Chicago club.

Buchik said he plans to go to Chicago to discuss the situation with Coach George Halas of the Bears. Asked if the discussion might concern salary, Buchik said: "That's about it."

Australia 1st In Canada Cup Gold Tourney

Hogan-Snead Team Tied for 2nd With a 143

Mexico City — (AP) — Americans Ben Hogan and Sam Snead sought to overtake the Australian entry in the team race for the Canada golf cup today after a hectic first round that produced several surprises and an individual leader from Colombia.

The United States tandem went into today's second round with a total of 143 tied with Ireland one stroke behind Australia.

Miguel Sala, a little-known Colombian, playing in his first international match, turned in a 3-under-par 69 to lead the world's greatest golfers in the individual competition. Only six other players among the 63 from 32 countries broke par.

Two iron-shot artists from Australia, Frank Phillips and Ken Nagle, fired the best combined score, a 2-under-par 142. Phillips was one of four players to shoot 70. His partner Nagle had a 72.

Hogan, the 4-time United States champion, had to sink a 6-foot birdie putt on the final green to put the American team in a second place tie with Ireland. Hogan finished with 72 while his partner Snead registered a 71.

Behind the top three teams came Argentina and Great Britain tied at 144, Scotland 145, Brazil 146, Spain 148, the Philippines 148 and Colombia 149.

Other Par-Breakers

Others who broke par were Harry Bradshaw of Ireland, Flory van Donck of Belgium and Leopoldo Ruiz of Argentina with 70s and Bernard Hunt of Great Britain with a 71.

Defending champion Japan had a shaky 151 for thirteenth place and favored South Africa 154 for seventeenth place.

Torakichi "Pete" Nakamura, the defending titleholder, started poorly with a 4-over-par 40, then steadied for a 76. His partner Koichi Ono had 75. Highly touted Gary Player of South Africa also turned in a 75.

A crowd of 12,000, the largest ever to see a golf match in Mexico, ran and whooped over the fairways on the 7,216-yard Club de Golf Mexico course.

Rudy Bukich, New Bear, May Balk at Terms

Washington — (AP) — Rudy Bukich, erstwhile third string quarter-back of the Washington Redskins of the National Football league became the official property of the Chicago Bears Thursday.

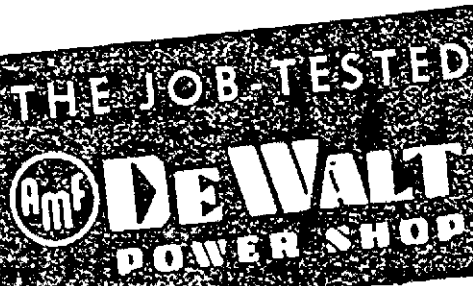

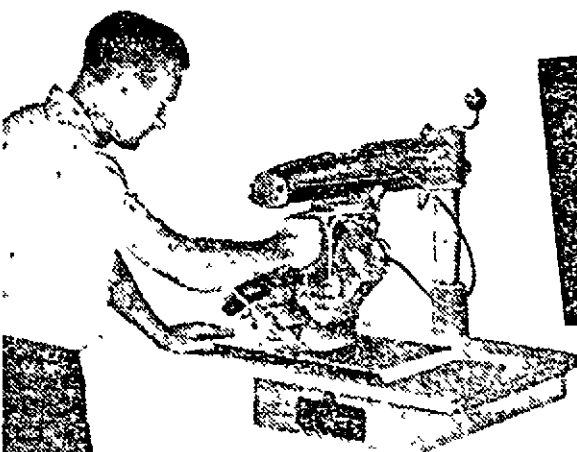

But Bukich, claimed by the Bears after the "Skins asked" waivers on him Thursday, said he isn't sure he'll sign a 6-foot guard from Appleton, with the Chicago club.

Holy Cross 2-TD Favorite to Beat MU '11' Saturday

Warriors are in Better Shape Than Opposition for a Change

Worcester, Mass. — Marquette's recuperated Warriors are ready to scamper against Holy Cross Saturday, but the football coach of the favored Crusaders is wearing his best bedside manner. Coach Johnny Druze of Marquette was scheduled to arrive here today by plane with 38 players, all fit for action except No. 1 halfback Frank Regnelli, who has a bad knee.

The Warriors are trying to improve on their record of two victories, five losses and one tie.

Holy Cross, with a 5-2 record, is rated about a 2-touchdown favorite, despite coach Eddie Anderson's grim view of injuries following last Saturday's loss to the battering forces of Penn State.

"We've lost the entire left side of our line," said Anderson Thursday. "and about half of our backfield."

Anderson said, "In some spots Saturday, we'll be down to our No. 3 or No. 4 men."

Backfield intact

For a change, Druze will have three-fourths of his No. 1 backfield intact.

Regnelli, rated the nation's third best punt return man by the NCAA, won't play at all. But fullback Frank Mestnik, quarterback Pete Hall and halfback Si Woods are ready to improve their individual statistics.

Hall had a bad ankle last Saturday, while Woods missed the last two games with a knee injury.

Anderson's only able-bodied back is his signal caller, Tommy Greene, a dangerous passer. Two other top backs are handicapped by injuries from the Penn State game.

Right half Ed Hayes was hospitalized with a concussion, left half Ken Hohl suffered a leg injury. Fullback Joe Stagnone is ready to play; he missed the Penn State game because of a bad leg.

Left Side

The right side of the Holy Cross line is in good shape except for the broken nose Dave Stecci suffered against Penn State.

Flanagan Tops Gil Turner

Akins Offered $50,000 to Fight Del in St. Paul

St. Paul, Minn. — Irishman Del Flanagan's 10-round demolition of Gil Turner put the 29-year-old welterweight within apparent grasp today of a long-coveted title shot.

"The International Boxing club promised me that if I beat Turner decisively I'd get a title fight," Flanagan said after his victory over Turner. "I've done everything they've asked. I don't see how they can overlook me now."

To help the view, St. Paul promoter Jack Raleigh offered welterweight champ Virgil Akins a $50,000 guarantee to put his title on the line against Flanagan during the Winter Carnival Festival here in January. Akins' manager, Bernie Glickman—who saw Thursday night's fight here—said he would consider it.

Worries About Jordan

At the moment Akins is worrying about Don Jordan, his opponent in a championship match next month.

Turner, 28-year-old Philadelphia, twice before had beaten Flanagan. But Flanagan clubbed him, speared him with jabs, outfooted him and demoralized him. Judge Johnny Deotis scored it 100-81. Referee Johnny Stanton had it 100-83. Judge Jimmy Perrault scored it 100-87.

Flanagan, now the sixth ranked welter, won a non-title bout with Akins two months ago, almost as decisively as he whipped Turner last night.

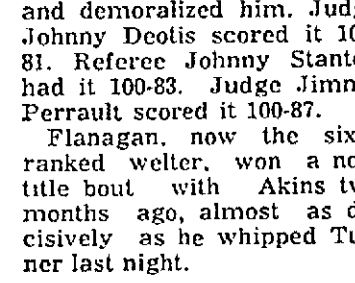

Reiser to Manage In Texas Loop

Green Bay — Pete Reiser, who managed the Green Bay Bluejays in the Three-I baseball league last season, will manage the Victoria, Texas, team in the Class AA Texas league in 1959.

The switch was announced by Al Macs, Bluejays' general manager. No new manager has been announced for the local club.

Both Victoria and Green Bay have working agreements with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Four Big Ten Teams Eye Second Place

Season Closes Saturday; Iowa Meets Notre Dame in Non-League Affair

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten football season closes Saturday with quite a run for the runnerup spot.

Iowa's Hawkeyes, who won the title two weeks ago, have their traditional windup with Notre Dame. The game at Iowa City could develop into one of the most spectacular of the season.

Meanwhile, Wisconsin, Purdue, Ohio State and even Indiana have an eye on second place.

Wisconsin now holds second with 4-1-1. If everything goes according to form, the Badgers will take the runnerup berth by defeating Minnesota.

Although Wisconsin is a 13-point odds-makers' choice for the game on its home grounds, the Gophers have their most healthy manpower since early in the season to try for an upset. And their 39-12 licking of Michigan State last week has renewed their confidence.

Purdue is third with 3-1-1 and a combination of defeat in Indiana in the Old Oaken Bucket rivalry and a Wisconsin upset would push the Boilermakers into second. The Hoosiers, with 3-2, are hot after consecutive victories over Minnesota, Michigan State and Michigan and mathematically must be counted a runnerup possibility.

The game is at Purdue and the Boilermakers rate a 14-point edge.

Entertains Michigan

Fourth-place Ohio State, with 3-1-2, entertains Michigan in an engagement that has lost much of its usual excitement. Usually, this finale is the key to the entire title chase, but Michigan's poor 1-4-1 record and the Buckeyes two ties have put it on the ordinary level.

Ohio State is favored by 14 points.

Northwestern is at Illinois, each entering the showdown with 3-3 marks and a chance to make the first division.

The game is figured a toss-up.

Michigan State is a 14-point choice in its home clash with Kansas State.

Tiger' Jones Makes 34th TV Showing

New York — One thing about Rory Calhoun, the muscular music lover. He always is eligible for the "Fighter of the Month." Rory will be making his tenth appearance of the year tonight when he takes on old reliable Ralph "Tiger" Jones at Madison Square Garden.

Except for the fact that he has been making money, this has not been one of Calhoun's better years. He was stopped for the first time, Jan. 20 by "Spider" Webb in San Francisco. He also lost decisions to Joey Giardello and Gene "Ace" Armstrong.

The fellow in the other corner came with your TV set. This will be Jones' thirty-fourth television appearance. Only Jack Paar does better.

Calhoun, 24, has a 37-5-1 record. He is a solid puncher, eager to swap but an easy target. Jones, with a record of 45-23-4, is a thick-necked body puncher who seldom puts up a bad fight. The Tiger claims both Yonkers and St. Albans, N. Y., as his home while Calhoun is booked out of White Plains, N. Y.

NBC radio and television will carry the 10-round match.

AHS Jayvees Open Season Play Kimberly Tonight; Graff Reduces Roster

The Appleton High school junior varsity basketball team opens its schedule against Kimberly at 6:45 tonight in the AHS gym.

Coach John Graff, beginning his sixth year as Junior Terror coach, has reduced the squad to 17 players after carrying a full roster of 38 candidates the first two weeks of practice.

Last year's edition of the Appleton JVs compiled a record of 16-2, the best of Graff's tenure. He feels the current squad hasn't progressed quite as far as last year's at a comparable time.

Likely AHS starters tonight are Dick Emerich and Jeff Martin, at the guards; and Marty Schultz, Al Vandenberg, and Pete Treiber in the front line.

Other forecourtiers due for early action include Dick Rankin, Tom Lonigro, Jerry Gendron and Dave Walter.

Rounding out the JV squad are Marv Hietpas, Ken Anderson, John Manier, Pete Ka-

More Than 1,000 Pay Tribute to Dunn, Steinmetz, Luderus

Former Packer QB's Example Should Inspire Youth, Banquet Guests Told

BY CHUCK CAPALDO

Milwaukee — The late Joseph A. "Red" Dunn and Fred Luderus and Chris Steinmetz Thursday night became the twenty-third, twenty-fourth, and twenty-fifth members, respectively, of the Wisconsin Athletic Hall of Fame, a roll call of sports immortals.

A crowd of more than 1,000, some of whom had seen the three greats in action in the early and mid-1920s, paid tribute to them during a 34-hour program at the arena.

Sprakers recounted the deeds of Dunn, mighty mite quarterback of Marquette; Luderus, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman for 10 years; and Steinmetz, father of University of Wisconsin basketball.

2 Bands Play
The Warrior and Badger bands, 250 strong, bombarded the audience and the honored guests, including five earlier inductees of the Hall of Fame, with "M. Rah, Rah" and "On Wisconsin."

A bugler played taps in the darkened building in remembrance of these Hall of Fame members who have passed on.

Plaques memorializing the feats of Dunn, Luderus and Steinmetz were unveiled behind the rostrum, on which were seated many of today's athletic greats. The other 22

'Birdie' Says Braves Need Stronger Bench

Declares Possibility Of Trading Logan Is Remote

Milwaukee — "Birdie" Tebbetts, executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves, says the club's first concern will be to strengthen its bench.

"We'll worry about second base when we have to," he said. "We don't think there is any need to do anything about second and even if there were, we're not in desperate straits with Felix Mantilla."

Tebbetts, who joined the Braves' executive family last month, made the remarks Thursday night in answer to queries about second base man Red Schoendienst, now undergoing treatment in St. Louis for tuberculosis.

Can Do the Job
He was asked whether he and General Manager John Quinn thought that Mel Roach, 25-year-old infielder who tore ligaments in his knee last August, would be an able replacement for the "Red head." Schoendienst does not make a comeback.

"From what I hear from John and Fred (Quinn)," the Redlegs' former pilot said, "Roach can do the job. I don't think we have to improve the club except for the bench. We'd be perfectly satisfied to go with either Roach or Mantilla."

Tebbetts said he would prefer to wait until spring training to make a concrete decision about a candidate.

"With the wonder drugs and the great advancements made in medicine," he said, "we'll wait and see about Red. You can't count him out yet. We also have to see about Roach's knee."

He said he and Quinn had talked about the need for pinch hitting strength. "That could mean an outfielder," he said.

Possibility Remote
Then turning to shortstop and rumors that disappointing Johnny Logan may be traded, Tebbetts asserted:

"It's pretty hard to give up on a guy that you won with. I've never seen anyone with Logan as trade bait. He's not as tradable as anybody on the ball club," but right at the moment I don't know where you can find a better man. I'd say the possibility of trading Logan is remote."

The name of Roy McMillan, Tebbetts' shortstop at Cincinnati, came up as a trade possibility. Birdie indicated that he didn't think the Braves and Redlegs could get together on McMillan, adding:

"McMillan is an improvement over any shortstop in the world from a defensive standpoint, but don't think he's reached the stature of Logan as an all-around ball player. His hitting hurts him."

plaques were mounted around the arena's great floor.

In sponsoring Dunn, Circuit Judge William L. O'Neill concluded his speech with this ringing declaration:

"Oh, may the flaming spirit of Red Dunn serve as a challenge and inspiration to the youth of today as well as the youth of tomorrow yet to come."

Dunn's son, Joseph A., Jr., accepted the honor in behalf of his family. The boy described it as a "tremendous tribute."

The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, president of Marquette, called the plaque "a fitting tribute to a great competitor who faced the battle of life with the same dauntless spirit as he faced his foes on the football field."

Quinn Responds
Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon, in introducing Luderus, noted that his family still possessed an age yellowed scrapbook recounting the deeds of once stylish first baseman.

"Never once did Fred Luderus bring anything but credit to his hall," said Cannon.

The 70-year-old Luderus, now 72, said, "If I had my life to live over again, I'd want baseball to be part of it."

In delivering the response, General Manager John J. Quinn of the Milwaukee Braves told Luderus, "men like yourself are an inspiration to the youth of America."

Steinmetz, still spritely and full of ginger, heard himself described as "a man who gains additional stature with each passing year if that is possible." The author of the statement was his sponsor, Frank V. Bieh, Sr., president of the University of Wisconsin Foundation, Dr. Conrad Elvehjem, university president, also spoke in Steinmetz' behalf.

Steinmetz' three sons, Chris, Jr., Al and Don, unveiled their father's plaque. Then Steinmetz, after much levity, recalled his playing days with the late Bob Zupke, who preceded him into the Hall of Fame.

"Zupke had the happy faculty of finding me wherever I was on the basketball court," Steinmetz said. "I hope the good Lord gives me Bob as one of my guards."

Previous Hall of Fame inductees on hand were Don Hutson, Ralph McCall, Tom Jones, George McBride, and "Club" Buck.

Howton Blasts NFL Owners And Officials

ply to act for other league members.

"It's just about impossible to accomplish anything with 12 owners at a time," Howton said.

In Philadelphia, Bell said, "Mr. Howton can like to have any kind of committee he wants, but the constitution says he has to meet with the commissioner."

Promise Contract
Howton said that in February of 1957, Bell and three club owners promised the players a bubblegum contract, but since then Bell's office has continually interfered when the players attempted to take it over.

The contract involved the use of players' pictures on cards packaged with bubblegum.

The many case involves Jim Ladd, Howton said, who lost $4,000 of his contract money and had to pay for an operation to remove a piece of cartilage from his knee resulting from a game played for the Chicago Cardinals.

Howton said the team violating the injury clause contract between the owners and the association by not footing the bill. Howton said he presented the facts to Bell early in 1958 and nothing has been done.

Redskins Failure
Howton also said the association was concerned over the Washington Redskins' failure to follow an agreement providing every player $50 for each pre-season game over and above his contract.

Hospitalization plans and other proposals have been up in the air since last spring, Howton said, with nothing settled.

"We've agreed to cancel the bubblegum contract," Bell said, "and we said the players could have it. We haven't been able to get a cancellation agreement."

"As for Ladd, that's a matter between the player and the club. The player has a perfect right to go to court. It's up to the player. He hasn't presented anything to me," Bell added.

Bell also said that he talked to the Redskins when he was informed of the pre-game payments. He said that if the player demands the money he can get it.

Asked Kuharich
"With all the players present, I asked (Coach Joe) Kuharich about it," Bell said. "He said all the players had agreed to their present salary system. And there was not one player that spoke up."

Bell said that the league is still trying to work out a hospitalization and pension plan. He said the players submitted one which was impossible for the majority of the clubs in the NFL.

"I've just gotten a program from Bill Dudley (former pro football player and now an insurance executive) a few days ago," Bell said. "But I happen to be busy now. It's a tough job running a league, making schedules and selecting officials. I am perfectly willing to take the time to see Mr. Howton whenever he asks for a meeting."

Budget Hearing

Conflict Between School Board, Taxpayers Ideas Sharply Drawn

The conflict between recommendations of Appleton Taxpayers association and board of education ideas was sharply drawn for Appleton aldermen at the public hearing on the budget.

H. O. Barney, association projects chairman, introduced into the record, without reading it, an analysis of the budget by his committee.

It contained, in part, a recommendation to cut $87,000 from the school board budget. This amount is $13,000 less than the $100,000 the association advocated earlier, but the council trimmed $13,000 before going into the hearing.

Redistribution of teachers to hike the pupil teacher ratio from 26 to 28.1, still under the state maximum of 30, would permit the school system to get by without hiring 14 new teachers, Barney told Ald. Schneider.

Offer Views
School Supt. John P. Mann and School Board President Edward V. Krueger took exception to the idea, offering these views:

1. The recommendation overlooks the need for teaching administrators and such other teachers as speech correctionists and orthopedic specialists who handle extremely small classes.

2. It fails to take into account that some classes, like home economics and shop, do not permit large class loads.

3. There are 23 sections of kindergarten and 21 elementary and junior high classes with more than 30 students in each, a situation which the state has asked be remedied.

4. The 14 teachers actually won't meet the needs of Huntley school, due to open next school year, since Huntley will have 17 teachers and a principal.

Appleton Average
5. Appleton is an average city for school costs, according to several studies, and in services versus costs is among the lower third of the 18 larger cities in the state.

6. Enrollments are up 711 this year.

Barney did not introduce the subject at the public hearing, but the association has suggested a cutback in teacher salary commitments to hold the line at this year's level.

To this Mann and Krueger said:

1. If the board stays at the $4,000 level for a graduate with a bachelor's degree, it will lose ground to Manitowish, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay and Sheboygan, its major competitors for teachers.

2. Appleton, a fine place to live, doesn't have enough advantages to overcome lack of salary.

Too Much?
3. Barney, in talking for a cut in the relief budget, says times are going to be good next year. If this is right, it's $4,000 too much for a teacher with a bachelor's degree or $6,495 too much for a teacher with a master's degree after 16 years service?

Appleton is neither high nor low in its teacher salary schedule, compared with other school systems, it was said.

Krueger said he didn't know what was behind an assertion some time ago by Gregory A. Schulte, association president, that there ought to be some way to save $100,000 in a $2.2 million budget.

But, he said, he wants it understood the budget never has been padded, to his knowledge, in the six years he's been on the board.

Budget requests, in part, originate with principals, are screened by administrators, the board itself several times and finally, this year, at a joint meeting of the school advisory committee before submission to the budget committee, Krueger explained.

More Ahead?
(One alderman, in the committee of the whole, said he wouldn't attend any more school advisory committee meetings because the committee couldn't get anywhere.)

Barney also did not bring up the association's suggestion to drop summer school, but Ald. Groh and Schneider did. Groh said he questions spending tax money this way.

Schneider wanted to know why summer school couldn't pay its own way.

Krueger said there are courses in remedial reading, band, art, orchestra, algebra, English, history and arithmetic, among others. Mann said parochial students found the remedial reading classes fruitful.

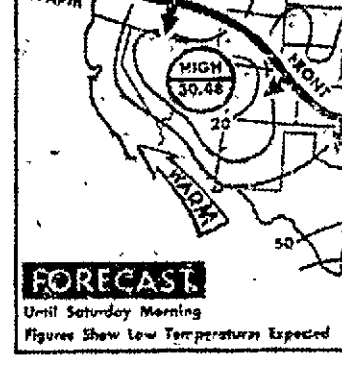

Making the summer school pay its way, Mann said, is illegal.

How About Services?
Ald. Pointer asked whether Appleton compared well with other cities for services.

Mann said his claims were based on the same formula used by Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin, consultant for the association.

Pointer said he had reference to transportation and a hot lunch program.

A question by John R. Dwyette, 321 E. Brewster street, was forgotten and never answered during a period when councilmen and officials were tending Mrs. Gustave J. Keller, Mrs. Harry M. Marshall and Mrs. Clarence O. city schools cost more than they have to. Is this true?

Weather Forecast. General fair weather is expected tonight, except for snow flurries over Wisconsin and Michigan. It will continue cool. A cold air mass is expected to cause a further temperature drop.

Winter Snow Starts in Fox Cities

First real snow of the year fell in the Fox Cities today.

Scattered light snow fell throughout the state. Only on hit even zero as the coldest two previous occasions has spots in the country early to the first snowfall been so late day.

So the Indians, who finished just a shade ahead of Dec. 1931, get the second season, get the second season, get the second season.

Along with the snow in Wisconsin, the Pacific northwest.

er school systems, it was said.

More Ahead?
(One alderman, in the committee of the whole, said he wouldn't attend any more school advisory committee meetings because the committee couldn't get anywhere.)

Barney also did not bring up the association's suggestion to drop summer school, but Ald. Groh and Schneider did. Groh said he questions spending tax money this way.

Schneider wanted to know why summer school couldn't pay its own way.

Krueger said there are courses in remedial reading, band, art, orchestra, algebra, English, history and arithmetic, among others. Mann said parochial students found the remedial reading classes fruitful.

Making the summer school pay its way, Mann said, is illegal.

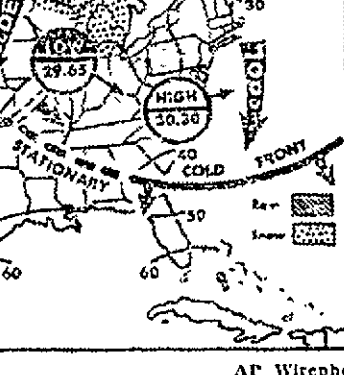

How About Services?
Ald. Pointer asked whether Appleton compared well with other cities for services.

Mann said his claims were based on the same formula used by Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin, consultant for the association.

Pointer said he had reference to transportation and a hot lunch program.

A question by John R. Dwyette, 321 E. Brewster street, was forgotten and never answered during a period when councilmen and officials were tending Mrs. Gustave J. Keller, Mrs. Harry M. Marshall and Mrs. Clarence O. city schools cost more than they have to. Is this true?

6 People Talk At City Budget Public Hearing

Barney, Mann Get Applause; Aldermen, Citizens Have Queries

A burst of applause and cheers from an estimated 250 onlookers punctuated the final sentence of H. O. Barney, Appleton Taxpayer association representative, when he appeared before the city budget hearing.

Barney had been questioned closely by several aldermen on association recommendations for cuts in new street department outlay, the relief department and police department.

Barney, one of six people to talk at the public hearing, finished his lengthy remarks with:

"A cut in the police budget, eliminating two men, would not be 'as drastic as the $6 tax rate hike the people will have to face.'"

Equipment Outlay
The remark came just after Barney explained to Ald. Stoegebauer that, even though the police chief asked for eight or nine more men and the public safety committee had trimmed that to four, all cities are undermanned according to the FBI. Appleton doesn't have as high a crime rate as others, he said.

Stoegebauer contended population has increased and people are demanding protection, but the department strength has not kept up.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe questioned the cut in new street department outlay, asking whether Barney knew the condition of equipment and whether he had considered the likely effect on next year's budget.

Relief Budget
Barney said the association suggested putting off the outlay to next year because it hadn't learned it could not be done. About next year's budget, Barney said "We hope to have an answer to that."

Barney told Ald. Bogan and Hannemann the recommendation to cut the relief department budget was based on belief that next year will see good times.

Hannemann contended some individual accounts in the relief budget are woefully short, such as $50 for clothing and $50 for dental bills.

Barney, in prepared remarks, said the proposed budget showed 21 of 24 categories increasing while anticipated revenues declined in nine of 10. They contradicted each other, he said.

Wants Cuts
He called for cuts totaling $275,000 and higher estimates on revenues.

He admitted the association may have made some mistakes in listing cuts, but said it probably overlooked some others that could be trimmed.

The association, said Gregory A. Schulte, its president, thanked city officials and aldermen for an amiable and pleasant greeting of association members throughout budget meetings.

Mann Gets Applause
In summing up his remarks, John P. Mann, school superintendent, also drew some applause. He was talking about the association and said:

"They're sincere people who want good service at low cost, but they've only been studying since July. The school advisory committee and the finance committee are close on the situation to Bethlehem Steel. Bethlehem know (school) cuts would mean a loss to the children of Appleton."

Remarks by Elmer Thalke, 832 W. Fourth street, also drew a smattering of applause. He maintained the school board knows what it needs and has to have the money.

John R. Dwyer, 321 E. Brewster street, told the council he's heard a lot of rumors, about the taxpayers association doing a good job, about losing money on the $600,000 bond issue for a bridge, about the big Catholic High school and a new south side Catholic school taking pressure off school needs.

Explanations
Mayor Mitchell explained that the $600,000 for the Oneida drawbridge won't cover a construction contract demand of about $632,000.

Treasurer Feuerstein said he does have some College-Candee high bridge money invested in short-term notes, a condition which resulted because the state required money for the bridge, an estimated $630,000, before bids were opened. It later was discovered $600,000 wasn't needed.

The Catholic High school, now at 3,200 students in the Mann explained, will take near future, he said.

Shares Ease, Trade Slows

Narrow Losses Prevail But Some Issues Advance

New York — The stock market gave ground moderately early this afternoon in slackened trading.

Most losses were narrow, ranging from fractions to about a point. A few were steeper.

Some fairly good gains were scattered throughout the list. Aircraft, tobacco and selected issues were higher. Industrials as a whole were definitely on the downside. Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, non-ferrous metals and rails declined. Utilities were about even.

The business and economic background remained favorable generally but the market once again seemed in need of a consolidation period, brokers said.

Youngstown Sheet dropped more than two points in a further reaction to a court ban on the proposed merger with Bethlehem Steel. Bethlehem know (school) cuts would mean a loss to the children of Appleton.

Remarks by Elmer Thalke, 832 W. Fourth street, also drew a smattering of applause. He maintained the school board knows what it needs and has to have the money.

John R. Dwyer, 321 E. Brewster street, told the council he's heard a lot of rumors, about the taxpayers association doing a good job, about losing money on the $600,000 bond issue for a bridge, about the big Catholic High school and a new south side Catholic school taking pressure off school needs.

Explanations

The Catholic High school, now at 3,200 students in the Mann explained, will take near future, he said.

Settle Strike At Stockyard

South St. Paul, Minn. — Livestock handlers voted to accept a proposed new contract Thursday, ending a 10-day shutdown of the Union Stockyards Co. here.

Normal trade was expected to resume today.

The new contract, which expires Oct. 30, 1960, provides a total wage increase of 19 cents an hour—9 cents effective the first year and 10 cents in the second year.

Although the strike closed the yards, commission merchants continued to receive livestock at temporary centers they established outside the South St. Paul area.

Chicago Poultry

Chicago — (USDA) — Live poultry no tone; Thursday's receipts were 176,000 lbs; wholesale buying prices unchanged to 1 lower; tom turkeys 20 lbs 70 21-24; mostly 23-24; hen turkeys 14-17 lbs 26-28.
